Air Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency estimated Friday that industry must invest some $42 billion over the next five years in air pollution controls. This is four times the EPA estimate of only a year ago.

EPA said the investments in air pollution alone would force substantial price increases on new cars, electric power, iron and steel, cement, and sulfuric acid.

Consumer prices in general would be increased about one per cent by the air pollution measures, with middle income groups feeling the greatest impact, it said.

The agency is preparing a separate report on the economic impact of controls on water pollution, solid waste, noise and aesthetic blight.

By 1977, EPA said, industry would be spending some $12 billion a year on air pollution

Northern Lights

COLLEGE, Alaska (AP) — A rocket is set to explode 300 miles above Alaska Saturday night to paint a 4,350-mile red-dish and white stripe in the sky from here to New Zealand in order to study the northern lights phenomenon.

The aerial display is part of an experiment conducted by scientists from the University of Alaska's Geophysical Institute and Las Alamos Scientific Laboratory. They are attempting to paint one of the earth's magnetic field lines with colored barium vapor particles that may be visible anywhere in the continental United States with an amateur's telescope. They will appear thread-like, but will not be visible without the aid of a telescope.

The barium stripe will be 10-20 miles wide and will remain visible for two hours.

Spokesmen say the work is part of the Geophysical Institute's continuing studies of the aurora borealis—or northern lights, and also could produce information useful in radio communications and space travel. In addition, scientists are said to be seeking clues about what would happen to radioactive debris following a nuclear explosion high in the atmosphere.

The experiment begins when a Nike-Tomahawk rocket is exploded in a brilliant green flash some 300 miles above the university's Poker Flat rocket facility, spewing barium ions outward at 10 miles per second along the invisible magnetic line girding the earth.

"It will be like stringing beads along a wire," says Dr. T. Neil Davis, deputy director of the institute. "The barium ions will follow along a magnetic field line to a distance of 20,000 miles above the Equator and then follow the field line back to the earth near New Zealand."

The two-stage rocket is scheduled to be launched 30 miles northeast of Fairbanks, at 6:45 p.m. AST (11:45 p.m. EST) Saturday. Spokesmen say the date and time are tentative because scientists must have clear skies for the project.

The experiment will be followed by observers in interior and northern Alaska, at Rattlesnake Peak near Hanford, Wash.; at Haleakala, Hawaii; on Johnston and Canton islands in the Pacific and at Timaru on New Zealand's South Island.

Unemployment Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped to a 17-month low in February, prompting predictions of a brighter economy from President Nixon and his aides. But brickbats continued from his Democratic and labor critics.

Nixon, at his Florida White House in Key Biscayne, was reported pleased by Friday's report that the jobless rate declined from 5.9 to 5.7 per cent of the work force.

"(It) gives us cause to believe that the goals the administration has made for the economy at the end of this year will be reached," said White House press officer Gerald L. Warren.

But Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and chief economist Nathaniel Goldfinger of the AFL-CIO noted that the decline was entirely due to seasonal adjustments.

The total of jobless workers remained at 5.4 million while total employment also was unchanged at 90.6 million. Employment was up 200,000 on an actual basis without seasonal adjustment, and unemployment was down a slight 35,000 on the same basis.

"February's unemployment statistics are further proof that Mr. Nixon's economic boom of 1972 has not gotten off the ground," O'Brien said in a statement.

Geoffrey H. Moore, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, acknowledged under questioning before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress that the figures could reflect discouragement among some of the unemployed. Jobless workers are not counted unless they are actively looking for work.

The report said the total civilian labor force increased 225,000 to 84.7 million on an actual basis, but declined 172,000 to 85.5 million on a seasonal basis.

The average work week increased 12 minutes to 37.2 hours, and the average work week in manufacturing rose 24 minutes to 40.4 hours, highest in more than two years, the report said.

Goldfinger said the figures showed no increase in average hourly earnings in February, and only 3 cents above December, belied reports that organized labor is making large wage gains.

Kennedy Challenges Kleindienst

ITT-GOP Picture Darker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy produced two letters Friday intended to show that acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst knew of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.'s commitment to the Republican National Convention at least two months earlier than he says he did.

Kleindienst and U.S. District Court Judge Richard W. McLaren, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, had testified they were unaware of the commitment until it appeared in the newspapers near the end of November or early December.

At a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing Friday, Kennedy questioned the two men about a letter written Sept. 21 by Reuben Robertson III, an associate of consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

Robertson asked Kleindienst in the letter to disclose the relationship between the settlement of an ITT antitrust suit and the giant conglomerate's alleged $400,000 contribution to

San Diego for the GOP convention next August.

Robertson also asked the name of the Justice Department official who made the decision to settle rather than prosecute and what contacts Kleindienst had with Rep. Robert Wilson, R-Calif., during negotiations.

Kleindienst said he did not remember the letter and that he probably just passed it along to the antitrust division for an answer.

He also said that he probably discussed the letter with McLaren but added that he did not recall what was said in the conversation.

"Senator, I get letters by the pound," Kleindienst said. "I don't have the time to read them all so as a matter of practice, I just pass them to the divisions to handle routine letters."

"It doesn't seem too routine to me," said Kennedy.

"You should see the mail I get, senator," said Kleindienst.

The Massachusetts Democrat also produced a reply, dated

Sept. 22, to Robertson from McLaren. In it McLaren is quoted as saying: "There is no relationship whatsoever between the settlement of the ITT-Harford litigation and any financial support which ITT may have offered to the City of San Diego."

The letter also said the antitrust division developed the terms of the settlement and that they were approved by Kleindienst, as deputy attorney general.

Republican Officials Stump For Nixon In New Hampshire

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Cabinet members and Republican congressmen visited New Hampshire on Friday to give President Nixon a boost for Tuesday's presidential primary. On the Democratic side, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie predicted he would be the winner.

With his percentage of the vote a matter of increasing concern among his managers, Muskie declined to say by how much he expects to win. "I'm not a walking poll," he said.

The forces of Democratic Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota were cheered by word that The Boston Globe had ordered a reshuffle of New Hampshire to verify a new Becker poll that reportedly showed a sharp drop in Muskie's lead. A month ago, he outpolled McGovern 65-18.

The new results will be published Sunday.

McGovern spent the day in Nashua, mainly touring factories, after predicting he would surpass the 25 per cent goal set by his managers.

He told fifth and sixth graders, that of all the presidential candidates, "no one has been more strongly opposed to the war in Southeast Asia as I have."

He continued, "The first order of business for the next President will be to end the war."

The GOP drive was capped by a gala Appreciation Day rally Friday night featuring entertainers Art Linkletter and Lainie Kazan and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, once Nixon's rival but now one of his biggest public boosters.

It sought to guarantee a big victory for President Nixon Tuesday over his two primary opponents, liberal Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey of California and conservative Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot Richardson, Secretary of Transportation John Volpe, House Republican Leader Gerald L. Ford and Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois, Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, William Brock of Tennessee and Marlow Cook of Kentucky, flew here on a special plane and then fanned out across the state to campaign for the President at schools, shopping centers and receptions.

A final Becker poll on the Republican race published in Friday's Boston Globe showed Nixon maintaining his overwhelming lead.

It gave him 68 per cent, two less than a month ago, to 14 for McCloskey and five for Ashbrook. McCloskey says he will drop his challenge to Nixon's renomination if he polls under 20 per cent.

On the Democratic side, despite fears among his advisers that widespread indifference was threatening the size of Muskie's anticipated victory, the Maine senator went through a rather light schedule, including a pair of radio phone-in shows, two factory visits, a "rap" session with high school students about drugs and a speech to a senior citizens' rally.

In the speech, he called for a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, the level proposed last week by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, whose backers are mounting a write-in drive here. Muskie had earlier been calling for a 15 per cent hike.

Plane Crashes Into Residence

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Mohawk Airlines propjet carrying 44 passengers crashed into a residential neighborhood near downtown Albany Friday night and authorities said eight persons were killed.

The plane was on a landing approach to Albany County Airport when it went down. It slammed directly into a one-story house, ripping it from its foundation. Nearby homes were sprayed with debris.

There was no fire or explosion.

The owner of the house, Joseph Rosen, was not among the casualties.

Officials at Albany Medical Center said they had eight bodies at the hospital and dozens of injured persons were being taken in by ambulance.

At the crash site, about three miles from the airport, rescue workers were using metal-cutting tools to free people from the wreckage.

The house that was hit is situated near the corner of Washington Avenue, a major thoroughfare in the city's western suburbs.

The crash occurred about 9 p.m. EST.

Pioneer 10 Races Into Outer Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Pioneer 10 spacecraft raced beyond the moon in record time Friday and measured the earth's radiation belts as it cruised toward the planet Jupiter, 21 months and more than 600 million miles away.

"Everything aboard the spacecraft is working just fine. We're super happy about the whole thing," said an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Pioneer 10 was thrust on an almost perfect course toward Jupiter Thursday night by an Atlas-Centaur rocket that drilled the payload to a speed of 31,413 miles an hour, nearly 7,000 m.p.h. faster than any space vehicle had flown.

Just 11 hours and 40 minutes later, the 565-pound craft crossed the orbital path of the moon. Apollo astronauts required three days to travel the same quarter-million-mile distance.

Project officials said only a small course adjustment would be needed to aim Pioneer so it will pass within 87,000 miles of Jupiter on Dec. 2, 1973. That will be done by firing tiny jets on the spacecraft about 3 a.m. EST next Tuesday.

Five of the 13 experiments were turned on by ground command Friday. Three of them took readings in the Van Allen radiation belts which gird the earth out to a distance of 400,000 miles. It was a warmup for a probe of Jupiter's radiation belt which is believed to be about 1,000 times more intense than earth's.

The other two activated experiments will record magnetic fields and meteoroids in interplanetary space during the longest space mission ever undertaken.

Four months into the flight, Pioneer 10 will become the first space vehicle to fly through the asteroid belt, millions of pieces of space debris which orbit the sun at distances from 170 million to 345 million miles. They may be chunks of a small planet that broke apart.

Once the spacecraft reaches the vicinity of Jupiter, its instruments will make an intensive four-day survey of this largest planet in the solar system.

It will take 20 types of measurements of the atmosphere, radiation, heat balance, magnetic fields and chemical composition.

One instrument will transmit crude image pictures of the swirling cloud cover which hides most of Jupiter's secrets. Scientists hope it will picture the mysterious red spot that floats in the clouds. Some speculate it is a chunk of frozen hydrogen, 30,000 miles wide, bobbing in a sea of thick gases.

Many experts believe Jupiter does not have a solid surface, that it goes from a gaseous atmosphere, down to oceans of liquid hydrogen, to a slushy layer and then to a solid hydrogen core.

Bhutto Claims State Of War Still Exists

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, declaring his nation still is in a state of war, vowed Friday to strengthen its armed forces but gave a nod to peace talks with India.

Bhutto also announced a shakeup of his military leaders, saying he was determined to "prevent the professional soldiers from becoming professional politicians."

In a nationwide broadcast shortly after relieving his army and air force chiefs of their commands, Bhutto appeared to have adopted a hard line toward India, which defeated Pakistan in a two-week war in December.

"We are still in a state of war, with a tenuous cease-fire, and augmentation of forces continues," he declared.

The president said Pakistan's military "must again become the finest fighting machine in Asia."

"We are determined to have an invincible armed force; and, with the passage of time, this will be done," he went on.

Bhutto devoted four minutes of his 35-minute speech to possible peace talks and called on India to take the good-will initiative by releasing 94,000 Pakistani prisoners of war.

He expressed hope that Pakistan "will be able to embark soon on negotiations with India and Sheikh Mujibur Rahman," the prime minister of Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan.

"We will be animated by the desire to live in peace, to turn from the path of confrontation to cooperation, a kind of cooperation that can make all of us in the subcontinent bring about tranquility."

Bhutto announced he had accepted the resignations of Lt. Gen. Gul Hassan and Air Marshal A. Rahim Khan, commanders-in-chief of the army and air force respectively, and of six other military leaders.

The president promoted Lt. Gen. Tikka Khan to full general and named him army chief of staff, the new designation for the service chiefs.

He named Air Vice Marshal Zafar Cawdhury air force chief, giving him the rank of air marshal, and promoted Rear Adm. H.S. Ahmed to vice admiral.

Berrigan Quoted As Okaying Kidnap Plan

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Rev. Philip Berrigan's first reaction to a purported plot to kidnap presidential aide Henry Kissinger was that it "opens the door to murder," according to letters introduced Friday at his federal conspiracy trial. But the militant antiwar priest was quoted as endorsing the scheme anyway.

"Later on, when government resistance to this sort of thing stiffens, men will be killed," Berrigan was said to have written to Sister Elizabeth McAllister, one of his co-defendants, in a letter intercepted by FBI informer Boyd Douglas.

Berrigan reportedly said in the letter that he found the kidnap plan "brilliant but grandiose."

"Nonetheless, I like the plan," the 48-year-old Roman Catholic priest reportedly added.

The letters, allegedly written in the summer of 1970, were read into the record at the trial of Berrigan and six other antiwar militants, including Sister McAllister.

Besides the kidnap scheme, the seven are accused of plotting to vandalize draft centers and to blow up heating tunnels in Washington, D.C. as a means of calling attention to their anti-Vietnam war cause.

The letters were authenticated for a jury of nine women and three men by Douglas, who testified he turned copies of them over to the FBI shortly after he received them.

The 31-year-old Douglas said he originally served as a mail courier for Berrigan when both were inmates at Lewisburg (Pa.) Federal Penitentiary, but that when this role was discovered, he became an FBI informer.

The purported Kissinger kidnap plot was initially outlined in a letter to Berrigan from Sister McAllister. She said it originated with another defendant, Eghal Ahmad, a Pakistani (Turn To Page Six)

But No Farm Workers

Further insight into the often curious inner workings of government is to be found in the story of Rep. James G. O'Hara's efforts to get some farm workers named to an advisory committee studying farm safety. Such appointments are promised by the Department of Agriculture, but they've been a long time coming.

In some ways the hazards on a modern farm are greater than in the past. New dangers have been introduced as complex machinery and a variety of chemicals have come into use. The need for study and action in the area of farm safety is evident. It is good to know that the USDA has an advisory committee on the subject.

In two respects, however, the committee has been disappointing. Thus far it has had only one meeting, and no other is yet scheduled. More importantly, as the Michigan congressman notes on the basis of inquiries as chairman of a House subcommittee on agricultural labor, farm workers were bypassed when the 25-person advisory committee was set up. Its members are said to include a lobbyist for the National Association of Agricultural Employers, representatives of farm equipment manufacturers and dealers, an executive of the Agricultural Chemical Producers Association, and even wives of farmers and ranchers, but none of that breed long known as the hired hand.

This is an omission which has no rational basis that we can discern. One might think it obvious that such a committee should have among its members spokesmen of the group most directly involved in its area of concern—that is, farm workers, who are the chief victims of farm accidents. But in government, it seems, the obvious is sometimes not as compelling as other considerations.

Whistlestop Revival

It used to be that one of the commonest presidential campaign pictures was a view of the candidate waving from an observation platform at the rear end of a train. Whistlestopping—making quick appearances at a whole series of towns along a railroad line—was the principal means of building support in the hinterland.

Since President Truman's notable use of the whistlestop technique in his successful 1948 bid for another term, the combination of television and swift air travel has all but ended the practice. We may see a revival of it in this year's campaigning, though, if Sen. Edmund F. Muskie's Florida experiment works well.

Muskie and a clutch of celebrities and local officials, traveling in the observation car of a five-car train rented from Amtrak, will be able to appear in seven localities within a 24-hour period. The senator from Maine will follow the classic pattern of speaking briefly and then waving goodbye as the train moves on to the next stop.

Observers from other political camps can be expected to keep an eye on what happens, and if it goes well other candidates may use the technique. It has the advantage of novelty in an era of television and jet plane city-hopping. Nor is it out of the question that whistlestopping will make something of a comeback in the main event next fall. With television spending limited under the new law, campaign managers will be on the lookout for alternative ways of reaching people.

It's A Good Question

Britain's House of Commons is full of surprises these days. A short time ago Bernadette Devlin enlivened the proceedings by physically attacking a spokesman for the government. Now William Hamilton, a Laborite given to excoriating British royalty, has characterized Prince Charles as a "twerp."

Hamilton did not go out of his way to hang this demeaning tag on an heir to the throne; he blurted it out in the course of supporting his proposal to nationalize crown lands from which Charles derives an annual income of $286,000. The fiery MP observed that two miners would have to work for half a century to earn "as much as we give this young twerp in a year."

We do not associate ourselves with this designation of Prince Charles, who seems a nice enough youth making the best of a comfortable yet in some ways nerve-racking situation. Besides, Hamilton's remark was withdrawn under protest. Still, the basic tenor of what he was saying—that royalty is for the most part a useless anachronism in our time—can hardly be disputed. It is quite appropriate to ask whether there is any justice in paying a young man, as his birthright, an annual sum that two miners would require 50 years to earn by their toil.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

The Jacksonville Crimsons never had a chance Friday night as they dropped their seventh game of the season to the mighty talented Winchester quintet 76-60. It was the 20th win for the Scott county squad.

The MacMurray College board has elected three new trustees: Robert O. Thomas, Fort Madison, Iowa; John H. Altortier, Peoria, and Walter G. Wright, Bloomington.

The General Telephone Co. will build a new exchange and office building in Jacksonville this summer, at the corner of Prairie and South Washington streets.

20 YEARS AGO

George Washington Adams, Jacksonville native now teaching history at the University of Colorado, is the author of a recently published book, "Doctors in Blue," a history of medicine in the Civil War.

Dr. Orland H. Berry, 71 year old Bluffs physician, died at Our Saviour's hospital Monday. Burial will be at Hardin, in Calhoun county.

Mr. and Mrs. George Souza, 878 North Church street, will quietly observe their 50th wedding date March 6.

50 YEARS AGO

Ten games were played in the local district tournament Friday and most of them were very fine.

Jacksonville had easy times yesterday, handily winning both games. With New Berlin the score was 49-5 and with Virginia it was 35-10.

Many fans were turned away at the local gate yesterday. The same is reported all over the state. Perhaps to accommodate the crowd the season should be changed so the tournaments could be played outdoors.

75 YEARS AGO

Many of our sports would like to go to Carson City, Nev., to see the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill but are unable to come up with the necessary.

Some one took W. I. Tilton's umbrella at the junior promenade and now he is on the lookout for that person.

The citizens of Nortonville talk of running out another telephone line, to connect with Blakeman's central switchboard in Murrayville.

100 YEARS AGO

We learn from a source supposed to be authentic that the venerable Rev. Dr. Peter Cartwright is still alive, though reason has fled. It is thought that he cannot survive but a very few days at the outside.

Mr. James Alexander, an extensive cattle dealer of this vicinity, arrived at Alexander Station on Thursday, having in charge two hundred and seventy head of fine Missouri stock cattle.

Turns In U.S. Policy Lead To Confusion In Japan.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As the United States' principal ally in the Pacific, Japan has tried loyally to follow closely the sudden turns in U.S. policy that have occurred in the last year.

It is no secret that U.S.

secrecy in advance of these moves not only has irked the Japanese but has led to considerable confusion within the Japanese leadership beginning with Premier Eisaku Sato. So, it appears the Japanese were not wholly prepared for the results of the Nixon-Chou

En-lai Peking talks, just as they were not prepared for the Nixon decision to visit China in the first place nor for the decision to devalue the dollar. Typical of the confusion following these moves was that which followed Sato's first appearance in the Japanese diet (parliament) after the conclusion of the Peking meeting.

Attempts to Clarify
Attempting to clarify his government's China policy, he noted that the People's Republic of China has replaced Nationalist China as a member of the United Nations.

"Based on this situation we can say Taiwan (Formosa) is part of the People's Republic of China," he said. "It is a natural assertion that the Chinese mainland and Taiwan are inseparable and it is not a question a third country argues."

In Japan it continues to be a matter of debate whether Sato meant simply that Taiwan is a part of China (the current U.S. attitude) and therefore a matter to be settled between Peking and Taipei; or whether he was reversing previous Japanese policy and giving Formosa to the Communists.

Of the two possibilities, the former seems the most likely. In any event, it appears the Japanese did not expect U.S. acceptance of the Chinese five principles of co-existence and did not expect the final communique to go as far as it did toward reduction of U.S. forces.

There is Confusion
Among Asians there is confusion as to the exact course the United States intends to follow toward Taipei, and, despite denials from Nixon himself, a widespread belief that something more must exist below the surface than is revealed by the communique.

Sato who has based his entire foreign policy upon cooperation with the United States, is under increasing criticism because of it.

Particularly he is criticized because the United States has been able to establish government-to-government contact with Peking while his own administration has not.

The United States has gone out of its way to reassure the Japanese that it still regards Japan as its No. 1 ally in the Pacific. The final communique declared that the United States "places the highest value on its friendly relations with Japan" with which "it will continue to develop close bonds."

But among Japanese an element of doubt is creeping.

"And THAT'S No Nursery Rhyme!"

New Look At Our Vietnam Bombing

By BRUCE BROSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The continuing story of our bombing in Vietnam is so encrusted with myth and distortion that we shall probably have to wait for postwar studies to set the record straight.

For instance, many Americans have still vivid memories of the days when we steadily bombed the crowded industrial sectors of northern North Vietnam. It's a good guess those memories include the strong impression that we hit those areas again and again with our huge B-52 bombers.

The incontrovertible fact, checked and rechecked: Not a single B-52 raid was ever conducted against populous northern North Vietnam.

The reason is simple. The giant planes are too vulnerable to the kind of sophisticated anti-aircraft weaponry which the North Vietnamese implanted around Hanoi and their industrial concentrations.

In the years of heaviest B-52 use, 1966-1968, the U.S. Air Force flew 411 missions (flights of one to three aircraft) over Vietnam. Of this total, 270 were flown over the demilitarized zone—which includes southernmost North Vietnam and northernmost South Vietnam.

The other 141 were flown over the Laotian-North Vietnamese border zones at the top end of the famed Ho Chi Minh trail. The strikes were directed primarily at the Mu Gia pass and other trail entry points.

The much-criticized bombings of northern North Vietnam were done by U.S. fighter-bombers, variously based on aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin, in South Vietnam, or in Thailand (a mere 25 minutes flying time from Hanoi). Their speed and maneuverability was their security, though many of course were shot down or disabled.

The bombing story always has been clouded because:

Military sources often have either remained silent or have been less than candid in their reports on U.S. air activity.

Field press accounts have many times fallen short of reasonable standards of accuracy and completeness. Admittedly, some of these have been made worse in the emotional retelling by bombing critics.

An example of the military's silence and lack of candor:

In the first days of May, 1970, we mounted four successive days of heavy raids on lower North Vietnam. These have come to be called "limited duration protective reaction strikes." Each of those four May missions involved about 100 U.S. fighter-bombers.

Only then did we learn that there had already been two previous such raids, one involving 135 planes on March 27-28, 1970, the other 40 planes on April 19, 1970.

Since that time there have been six more "limited duration" strikes involving substantial numbers of aircraft. All have been announced. The most recent, of course, was the Dec. 26-30, 1971, series of five—with 46 planes striking the first day and an average of 240 on each of the following four days.

But if government has been slow to disclose some important air activity, reporters in the field sometimes have not performed well. The phrase "air strikes" is used indiscriminately, and thus misleads.

Most of the time "protective reaction" strikes are not large, premeditated raids like the "limited duration" assaults. They are usually direct responses to North Vietnamese missile firings against U.S. phototaking reconnaissance planes. These latter, unarmed, are nowadays accompanied by four fighter aircraft. The "strikes" are mounted by two to four of such planes against missile sites, radar, and anti-aircraft artillery.

You can argue that there should be no such strikes at all. But they should neither be reported, nor discussed in this country, as if they were massive, calculated raids. It is possible to be against bombing and still not misrepresent the facts.

Ann Landers: Disagree About Petting Limits

Dear Ann Landers: About a year ago my two teenage daughters sent away for your booklet on Necking and Petting and Where to Draw the Limits. They said it was a good booklet and they learned a lot from it. But they disagreed with your advice that a couple should keep both feet on the floor at all times. They insist that a couple who sets their minds to it can get into plenty of trouble even when both feet are on the floor. We had quite a discussion on this subject and I had to admit they were right—especially when it comes to standing close together and kissing good-night.

The older girl is 16 now and she has a steady boyfriend. I often find them lying on the couch—side by side, watching TV. The door to the den is usually wide open and there's always a dim light in the room. When I see them like this, I say, half joking, "Remember now—Ann Landers says 'both feet on the floor.'" They yell back, "Yeah—Old Annie has a thing or two to learn. Somebody ought to tell HER the facts of life."

I have no answer to that line and I hope you can provide me with one. Will you try? They promised to listen.

P.S. What do you think of passion marks? The kids call them hickies. Also, last week when we came home early from a movie, our daughter and her steady were upstairs. We didn't realize he was in the house until they both came down ten minutes later. My daughter said he was in her bedroom looking at her bulletin board. What do you think?—Old-Fashioned Mother in Little Rock

Dear Old Mother: I think these kids can use all the information they can get, plus a little closer supervision. They sound healthy, normal, eager and ready to sample all of life's goodies. Continue to keep the lines of communication open between you and your daughters and write again if you feel the need.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is three years old. For the past six months he has been waking up between three and four o'clock in the morning—screaming. He says he is afraid of the dark. I try to comfort him and tell him there is nothing to be afraid of, but it usually takes about 15 minutes to quiet him down.

This past week my husband has been very short-tempered about these nightly outbursts. He works hard and needs his sleep. He says it's my fault because I have been catering to the boy—that from now on the child will get a hard spanking when he screams at night and then he'll learn not to bother us. The last three nights it has been worse than ever. After the spankings the child cried for at least a half an hour.

I have pleaded with my husband to leave a small light on but he says the boy will be a sissy, that he has to learn there is nothing to be afraid of. This problem is creating trouble between my husband and me. I wish you would tell me who is right and what should be done about the child's fear of the dark and the nightly screaming spells.—Michigan Mother

Dear Mother: The child's fear of the dark and the nightly screaming spells are symptoms of other problems. I hope you can persuade your husband to go with you to a counselor to discuss it. If he won't go—go without him. I suggest a dim light in the boy's room until he settles down. The spankings should be terminated immediately. They will only add to the child's anxieties, and he has enough already.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Early in 1971 insurance companies writing health insurance policies in the United States provided hospital expense protection to a net total of 112,575,000 persons compared with only 3.7 million persons covered by hospital insurance in 1940. The World Almanac notes.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET
There's never a dearth of baby sitters when it comes to minding someone else's business.

Barkeep at our favorite watering spot says he'll give a free drink to anyone who'll take him.

When the Joker's wild, you can be pretty sure someone turned the tables on him.

The reason some folk can't give up smoking is they have too much "will" power.

Thoughts

For what thanksgiving can we render to God for you, for all the joy which we feel for your sake before our God, praying earnestly night and day that we may see you face to face and supply what is lacking in your faith? — I Thess. 3:1, 10.

All the scholastic scaffolding falls, as a ruined edifice, before one single word—Faith: — Napoleon Bonaparte.

Timely Quotes

According to the commission of God given to me, like a skilled master builder I laid a foundation, and another man is building upon it. Let each man take care how he builds upon it. — I Cor. 3:10.

Coping With Your Income Tax

Auto Loan Interest Is Among Deductible Items

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1971 tax returns.
 By BILL NEIKIRK
 Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The little things can add up when you're ready to fill out your 1971 income tax return.
 It takes preparation and a lot of time reading; but if you do, you may be able to qualify for a lot more deductions than you originally thought. You can also save yourself unnecessary headaches.
 For instance, if you are filling out a joint return, start by writing down your spouse's Social Security number and your own. In the euphoria that follows after you have completed the job, it is easy to forget such a detail.
 The IRS has tried to help you remember by supplying a peel-off label with your instruction book that contains not only your and your spouse's name, but also the Social Security numbers. This can be peeled and posted in the address section of form 1040. Make sure it's correct. If you use the label, you do not have to write in the Social Security number unless it's missing or is incorrect.
 Don't forget, as thousands do, to sign your name. It isn't a bad idea to do it before you put in all the figures. Your spouse must sign also if it's a joint return.
 Organize your records at the beginning. When you have finished the job, put them in a place where they can be retrieved easily in case of an audit by the IRS.
 Your automobile, polluter that it is, is good for many deductions. State and local gasoline taxes are deductible, along with trips made on company expense not totally compensated for, or driving for medical care or charity. Interest on your car loan is deductible.
 Check all last year's debts.

MRS. DAVENPORT HOSTS ORLEANS CLUB BREAKFAST
 The Orleans Woman's Country Club met recently for a prayer breakfast at the home of Mrs. Roy Davenport in cooperation with the Illinois Senior Woman's Clubs.
 President Mrs. Lela Drury welcomed the members and guest. A tribute to the flag was given by Mrs. James Heaton, followed by the pledge and club song.
 Remarks were presented by Mrs. Earl Davis, president of the 20th District Federation of Woman's Clubs.
 The program on Prayer and Patriotism was given by Mrs. Davenport. Tributes to Washington and Lincoln and a story of Africa were part of the theme.
 The meeting was closed with singing. Those present were: Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Vernon Schofield, Mrs. Bill Buchanan, Mrs. Gene Murphy, Mrs. Ervin Middendorf, Mrs. Ethel Kumble, Mrs. Ethel Strawn, Mrs. Wendell Rawling, Mrs. James Walker and Miss Vergie Weller.

Betty Canary
Mother 'Escapes' But Not Really
 You can always tell when a young mother has escaped. You may not know why she's been "inside" for so long. It may be because she's had three children taking turns with the mumps. Or because she doesn't trust anybody giving the baby a bath until she's two months old. It could be she has had to choose between repairing the refrigerator and hiring a sister.
 The point is, you can spot her driving down the street, in a department store and, especially, when she's having lunch out for the first time in months.
 She is the woman smoothing bedspreads in the furniture department.
 The girl who rearranges two shelves in giftware while muttering, "I don't know how these kids reach this stuff!"
 She's the one who whips out a tissue and wipes your child's nose.
 The one who doesn't watch the man giving the sewing machine demonstration—because she's too busy picking pins and ravelings off the floor.
 One needn't wonder at the woman who is driving along talking to herself. She has forgotten she's alone and is keeping up a steady stream of "Stop that!" "Give back the hat and tell Mary Jane you're sorry." "Making faces again?" "The last time I'm telling you, it is The Last Time you're coming with me."
 Men are constantly amazed when wives come home exhausted from shopping trips. And their poor wives can't tell them why because they don't know what they've been doing all day. "I can't understand it," they say in puzzled tones, not realizing they've put in four hours of rewinding yard goods, resetting tables in china departments, adjusting lampshades and dusting pictures.
 I couldn't understand it for a long time. And then one day I caught myself saying sternly to a man at a lunch counter, "Eat those crusts! Don't you want to have curly hair?"

UNDERWAY

There she goes . . . UNDERWAY at last! You can almost feel her confidence when she hits the water. But who knows what adventures await her on the Seven Seas? How many crucial tests must the captain face before she finally rests at a harbor of safety?

We're the captain of our own ships in the voyage through life. We begin with determined optimism. We have youth, ambition, determination. We have health and strength. But as we get "underway," we soon find ourselves faced with sudden trials and obstacles. It is in these moments of crisis that our faith and courage are challenged.

Just as the ship has its modern equipment and its lighthouses, so we too have a tower of direction and strength found in the Church. In the Church of Jesus Christ we find a lasting faith, guiding us into the calm harbor of ETERNAL life.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

SATURDAY, MARCH 4 — Born today, you are one of those persons who can't help advising others on anything and everything, who finds it impossible to keep opinion to himself, whether it be good or bad, who, in short, is inclined to rush in where angels fear to tread insofar as other people's business is concerned. Fortunately for you, however, yours is an extremely friendly nature and your interference is so well-intentioned that even those whom you may annoy most are quick to excuse you, quick to overlook your transgressions. Well aware that charity begins at home, you put a great deal of time, energy, and thought into how best you can bring benefits to your own home, your own family. You are always deeply involved in good causes outside your own domestic circle — but you refuse to ask your loved ones to make unnecessary sacrifices so that you can indulge your highly generous and sympathetic nature where outsiders and down-and-outers are concerned. When your family is well taken care of, then you will give freely. Although you have been known to be stubborn when it comes to clinging to your own ways and your own wants, in general you are quite willing to let the new displace the old. Only when your own principles are compromised will you refuse to go along with change — but you are broadminded enough to allow others to do as their own consciences permit, bearing neither grudges nor resentments. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

BANK TO HOST FARMERS, FRIENDS IN JERSEY AREA

JERSEYVILLE — The Jersey State Bank of Jerseyville is inviting all area farmers and guests to a meeting to be held March 8 at the Farm Bureau basement, at which time a new farm service program will be introduced by the bank. Roger Allen, assistant cashier and loan officer, stated the meeting will begin at ten o'clock in the morning and during the session films will be shown on reforestation and windbreaks and the current tractor-pulling contest. At this time the new service program will be introduced. A free lunch will be served at noon.

Open Skating Rink Friday At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — A self-styled old-fashioned Beardstown couple who insist on proper deportment from their customers opened their new skating rink March 3 at 505 E. 12th street, Beardstown. "We may be old-fashioned," said Jack Hageman, who with his wife will operate the rink, "but we are determined that people who patronize our rink will act like ladies and gentlemen."

"We have put about everything we have into this project," he added, "and we think that there is room for a place of entertainment where there will be no profanity or fighting." Hageman said that in order to enforce his rules he will employ an officer if need be. "This will be a place where people of all ages can come to enjoy themselves in a wholesome atmosphere, free from improper deportment by others." The new building is located at an area with ample parking room and will be available for private parties and other projects.

Raps Conditions In Mental Health Institutions

CHICAGO (AP) — Conditions in Illinois' mental health institutions are in a "perpetual state of scandal," two citizens' groups have charged. The Coordinating Council for Handicapped Children and the Mental Health Coalition sent representatives to 10 of the state's 26 institutions in 1970 and 1971. They reported their findings to the Department of Mental Health in April, but were refused a meeting with the department head, said Charlotte Desjardins, spokeswoman for the coordinating council.

The coordinating council and the coalition include 36 different groups interested in mental health problems. Among the institutions visited were Elgin, Dixon and Lincoln. The groups found inadequate staffing, lack of recreational facilities and programs, and general poor living conditions, they reported Thursday. Fay Ruth, executive secretary of the Mental Health Coalition, charged: "The department (of Mental Health) is top heavy with administrators and very little of the money ever gets down to the patients."

Mrs. Desjardins said the groups tried to interest the press in their report back in April when it was completed, but it took the Ricardo Munoz-Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Avery, 209 Sangamon St., Beardstown, is serving with the Second Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas.

Sorenson has announced that Edmund Hull, junior business major formerly from Modesto, Calif., and now residing in Jacksonville, will be featured in a trumpet solo with band accompaniment, entitled "Stars in a Velvety Sky" by Clarke.

Also to be featured in the performance of "Capriccio" by Skinner is a B flat clarinet quartet, composed of Janette Runkel of Jacksonville, Sherry Williams of Auburn, Kathy Whiteside of Normal, and Diane Janssen of Augusta. Included in the program will be the following: Short Classics for Band—Trumpet Tune by Purcell, Sarabande by Bach, Gavotte by Handel, Aria by Tenaglia, and Psalm XVIII by Marcello; Finale, Symphony No. 5, Beethoven; Overture:

NFO Adopts Plan To Protect Family Farmer

HOUSTON (AP) — A new program designed to protect the family farmer has been adopted by the National Farmers Union. The action came Thursday at the concluding session of the annual convention of the 250,000-family group. Tony Dechant of Denver, who was re-elected president of the union, said the program would permit family farms to receive direct income support and force large corporate farms to shift for themselves.

It provides for mandatory supply management in order to prevent undue surpluses. It also would provide 100 per cent of parity for family farms, based on the exact levels yet to be determined on the basis of an independent study by the Library of Congress and the General Accounting Office. The proposal would cover all farm commodities whose producers agree, but the method of determining producer desires was not detailed. Such desires presumably would be determined by farmer referendums.

Dechant said the new program is a result of farmer disappointment over the corruption of efforts to stabilize the market system for basic farm commodities under the Agricultural Act of 1970. Dechant said disappointment over the 1970 act has occurred largely as a result of undue influence of corporate farmers and large agribusiness corporations. "They have profited at the farmer's expense under policies which assure cheap prices at the farm," he said. "So, we are saying, in effect: This is the end. We are going to call a halt to the disappearance of the family farms."

He said anyone who wants to produce unlimited quantities under the proposed program would do so at his own risk. Ed Smith of Jamestown, N.D., was elected vice president of the organization.

Government Ordered To Pay Hiss Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alger Hiss, a central figure in the 1948 congressional probe of the State Department, won a court decision Friday ordering the government to pay him pension benefits.

A three-judge federal court ruled that the so-called Hiss Act was applied in an unconstitutional manner to deny Hiss a $61-a-month annuity for his years of government service.

The court ordered the government to pay the annuity plus interest retroactively to Nov. 12, 1966, Hiss' 62nd birthday and the date he became eligible for retirement benefits. The judges also ordered that monthly payments continue.

Hiss, now 67 and residing in New York, was convicted of perjury after denying before a federal grand jury that he gave state secrets to Communist spies. He served 3½ years in a federal prison and was released in 1954.

He has continued to profess his innocence.

As a top State Department official for more than a decade, Hiss moved through the highest levels of the government until his resignation in 1947 to accept a private position which he quit after being indicted the following year.

He was accused by Whittaker Chambers, a pre-World War II Communist, of slipping secrets to a Communist spy ring.

After Hiss was released from the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary, a law was passed which became known as the Hiss Act—denying federal annuities to persons convicted of certain offenses, including perjury in cases involving national security.

Hope Eastman, an attorney representing Hiss in the current suit, said the law was made retroactive to include those convicted prior to its passage in 1954.

The American Civil Liberties Union filed suit in 1970 on behalf of Hiss and Richard Strassburger, a former postal service employee who was denied an annuity in a separate case.

The Civil Service Commission members, defendants in the suit, denied Strassburger an annuity because it said he made a false statement concerning Communist party membership on employment records.

Judge Roger Robb of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and District Court Judge John L. Smith and William Bryant ruled Friday that the retroactive application of the law in those two cases was unconstitutional.

They declined to consider the case a class action as the ACLU had sought.

Retroactive payments to Hiss would total about $3,660 plus interest with payments to continue at the rate of $61 a month, according to the court order.

The government was ordered to pay Strassburger $122 a month and make payments retroactive to Sept. 14, 1964, his 62nd birthday.

'Pat' Murphy, Former Resident Near Retirement

Kenneth R. "Pat" Murphy moved to Tucson, Ariz., "for a two months' trial" in 1948 and stayed. The vice president for business affairs and treasurer for the University of Arizona has announced his retirement effective June 30.

He is a native of Morgan county and prior to his trek westward was employed as office manager for H. P. Metz, Plumbing and Heating, in Jacksonville. That was in 1948.

Pat, his wife Helena, and a daughter, Patricia Ann, planned to give the climate in the desert oasis of Tucson a couple of months' trial before moving on to the Golden State of California.

For some reason, the refugees from Jacksonville liked the Old Pueblo and Pat enrolled in the University of Arizona's freshman class in January of 1949.

Although he was in his early 40s, freshman Pat was the whiz kid of his class. He earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration in 2½ years, graduating with highest honors, and also qualified by examination as a certified public accountant. In 1951, he received the Arizona Society of Certified Public Accountants' annual award for achievements in accounting.

Two or three weeks before graduation, one of Murphy's professors asked him to take a job in the UA business office.

By the following year he was assistant controller, and became controller in 1957. In 1967 he was named vice president for business affairs. He has served as treasurer of UA since 1960.

He served with the Army Finance Corps in the South Pacific during WWII, then returned to Jacksonville.

Most Jacksonville residents who remember Murphy know him as "Pat." Several relatives are still in the Jacksonville area.

McLaren said he had no contacts with Rep. Wilson, who represents the San Diego area.

McLaren said he could not have answered the letter without having asked Kleindienst if he had contacted Wilson.

Otherwise, he said, he wrote the reply from his personal knowledge. "Since I made the decision on the settlement and since I knew there was no connection between it and ITT's commitment, I could make the statement out of my own knowledge and conviction," McLaren said.

Kleindienst asked the Senate Judiciary Committee earlier this week to reopen the confirmation hearings on his appointment to be attorney general after he was criticized by columnist Jack Anderson in connection with the antitrust settlement.

President Nixon's nomination of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general was approved by the committee 13 to 0 last week and initially had been expected to be affirmed by a wide margin in the Senate.

After the testimony is heard, the committee is expected to decide whether the new information merits a second vote on the nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., told newsmen after he recessed the hearings until next Tuesday that he does not think "anything has been turned up" against Kleindienst.

Eastland said again that he intends to call next week Anderson; Mitchell; William Marim, head of ITT's Washington office; Mrs. Dita Beard, ITT's chief lobbyist, and three surprise witnesses whose names, he said, were supplied by ITT.

It was a memo from Mrs. Beard to Marim which was cited by Anderson as evidence the Justice Department pulled back on the antitrust suit in return for ITT pledge to support the convention.

Mrs. Beard has been subpoenaed twice by Eastland to appear before the committee but the senator said she has not been located.

Sources close to the committee said they had been informed that Mrs. Beard has a heart problem and telephoned from Denver to her doctor here to get a prescription.

ITT issued a statement Friday saying it was extremely disappointed the hearings were recessed before it had an opportunity to present important evidence.

ITT reiterated "that there was no connection of any kind between the attraction of convention business to San Diego and the settlement of its antitrust cases."

The statement said a subsidiary, Sheraton Corp. of America, contributed $100,000, with a possible additional amount up to $100,000 if needed to the San Diego Convention Bureau. The donation, it said, "was a hotel company contribution to a community civic group whose mission is to attract convention business to the city of San Diego."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, March 4, the 64th day of 1972. There are 302 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, the first U.S. Congress convened in New York City. The Congress had to adjourn because a quorum was not present.

On this date: In 1681, England's King Charles II granted William Penn a charter for what is now Pennsylvania.

In 1791, Vermont became the 14th state.

In 1829, the White House was mobbed by an unruly crowd at the inauguration of President Andrew Jackson.

In 1917, Republican Jeannette Rankin of Montana became the first woman to serve in Congress.

In 1943, American forces defeated the Japanese in the Pacific war battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, Soviet troops reached the Baltic Sea in their drive across Germany's province of Pomerania.

Ten Years ago: 111 persons were killed in the crash of a British chartered airliner after takeoff from the West African city of Douala, Cameroon.

Five years ago: U.N. Secretary-General U Thant disclosed that he secretly had discussed the Vietnam war in a meeting with North Vietnamese representatives.

One year ago: Turkish terrorists kidnaped four U.S. airmen and threatened to shoot them if $400,000 ransom was not paid. No ransom was paid, and the Americans were released five days later.

Today's birthdays: South African singer Miriam Makeba is 40. Former Federal Communications Commission Chairman William E. Henry is 43.

Thought for today: Habits are at first cobwebs, then cables—a Spanish proverb.

Mrs. H. C. Rose Recognized For Volunteer Work

Mrs. Herbert (Vera) Rose, a volunteer at Jacksonville State Hospital, was honored for outstanding community service through voluntary action by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. The presentation was made Wednesday evening at a banquet climaxing the first day of the Governor's Conference on Voluntary Action in Springfield.

Mrs. Josephine Oblinger, executive director of the Governor's Committee on Voluntary Action, assisting the Governor at the awards ceremony, cited Mrs. Rose, who has been a volunteer at Jacksonville State Hospital for 17 years.

Mrs. Rose is the wife of Reverend Herbert Rose, who retired two years ago after serving as pastor of Salem Lutheran church for 20 years. Being a minister's wife is a full-time job in itself, in addition to the many other areas of volunteer work in which Mrs. Rose is involved.

She is an excellent recruiter and has served in many capacities such as companion therapy feeding infirm patients, socialization programs, remotivation, sewing, chaplaincy and training new recruits. Mrs. Rose is a great believer in "after care" and has followed hundreds of patients after discharge with personal calls or letters. Mrs. Rose recommends volunteer services to everyone who is able.

Gov. Ogilvie emphasized the state's commitment to the involvement of volunteers in public and private agencies serving Illinois citizens, one of which is Jacksonville State Hospital which offers a variety of opportunities for services to emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded patients. The program is under the direction of Mrs. Marge Marsh.

South Vietnamese troops reported they found the bodies of 20 North Vietnamese killed in bombing raids near Fire Base 6 northwest of the provincial capital of Kontum.

For the past two months, allied officers have been saying the Communist command planned an offensive in the highlands with the key targets Kontum, and such border bases as Ben Het and Fire Bases 5 and 6.

In support of the drive, B52 bombers pounded the central highlands in the fifth consecutive day of saturation raids.

From Monday through noon Friday, the giant bombers flew 31 missions in the highlands.

Senior U.S. military sources said heavy American air strikes are expected to continue, with emphasis on the highlands and the northern provinces.

As for predictions that the offensive could be launched during the Tet lunar holiday period or President Nixon's visit to China, the sources said such forecasts were based on assessments of the enemy's capability, not his intent.

Four Americans of the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, were wounded Friday in a booby trap explosion. They were on a reconnaissance patrol near Fire Base Fiddler's Green, 20 miles northeast of Saigon. There were few other reports of significant ground action.

U.S. Navy bombers in raids on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos avoided being hit by two surface-to-air missiles west of the DMZ, the command said.

PHYSICIAN TELLS 4-H CONCERN FOR TEEN PREGNANCY

Dr. Robert Hartman spoke to the Morgan county 4-H Federation Wednesday evening. He is deeply concerned about the increased number of teenage pregnancies. He offered many causes for this increase; one of which was our changing mores. He stated that the community must first be aware of the problem of increased pregnancies, that family living education should be taught in our schools and family planning information should be made available to all who desire the information.

Two approaches must be taken: through education make people aware of the reproduction process and make them aware of the responsibilities of a family. Dr. Hartman ended his presentation with a question and answer session.

DRIVER ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

A 24-year-old rural Beards-town man escaped serious injury in an accident at 10:18 p.m. Thursday in front of 715 South Main.

Larry Evans told investigating officers he was southbound and attempting to light a cigarette when his car collided with the rear of a parked car owned by Edwin C. Miller of Route 3, Mt. Sterling.

Evans complained of chest pains but did not require hospital treatment. He was ticketed for improper lane usage.

GI OF MONTH HONOR GIVEN VIRGINIA MAN

VIRGINIA — Mrs. Josephine Edlen of Virginia has received word from the commanding officers at Fort Gordon, Georgia, that her son, P.F.C. James H. Edlen, was selected as the Outstanding Soldier of the Month in his battalion for the month of January, 1972.

In being selected for this honor, P.F.C. Edlen has demonstrated outstanding qualities in leadership, military courtesy, learning, knowledge of current events and military subjects, and a continued outstanding performance of his assigned duties. He was selected from representatives from all the sections and subordinate units of his command.

He will arrive home for a 30-day leave in March, when he will then be shipped to Vietnam for his tour of duty.

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Although the Internal Revenue Service insists that income tax preparation is not beyond the abilities of most Americans, an enormous industry has developed that says otherwise.

Tax preparers are proliferating, and some of them are highly profitable. One, H & R Block, earned nearly $9 million last year. And local preparers find it a profitable seasonal business.

Last year more than 40 million of the 75 million returns involved payments to tax preparers. At only $10 a return, which is probably well below the average, this means $400 million.

Tax preparers need demonstrate no qualifications, either of experience or integrity. As one company states in a letter seeking trainees: "You don't have to be a college graduate or even a high school graduate. No license is required and you need not financial experience."

Adding revenue to the industry, publishers have found tax preparation guides to be highly rewarding, even though some of the texts appear to be as complex as the income tax regulations themselves.

This is partly explained by the fact that some of the books may be nothing more than exact copies at a higher price of the 75-cent government book "Your Federal Income Tax."

There's no rule that says you can't put your own cover on it. Tax preparation courses add millions more to the industry, just how much it may be impossible to say. They are offered in college classrooms, in storefronts and at home by correspondence.

Would it be fair to include the per hour cost of the labor of millions of Americans over their own returns? Perhaps not. That seems to be the way the IRS views it too; you can deduct the preparer's fee but not your own costs.

Pressures now seem to be growing to bring some degree of regulation to the tax preparation industry, and legislation has been introduced by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. and Rep. Richard R. Hanna D-Calif.

It seems likely now that tax preparers might in the future be required to adhere to some form of licensing or registration, and the IRS is actively soliciting views on the matter from law and accounting groups.

Senate OKs $9 Billion Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $9-billion housing bill described as one of the most important put together in years.

Major provisions of the bill would control closing costs on home mortgages, subsidize mass-transit deficits and consolidate federal housing programs.

The measure, sent to the House where action isn't likely until after the Easter recess, includes some of President Nixon's recommendations, but Democrats altered several of them.

The mass-transit feature of the legislation would furnish federal subsidies to pay deficits of subways, bus lines and commuter trains.

These are opposed by the Nixon administration, however, and there were indications in the debate that the money would not be spent for this purpose even if Congress approves it.

Sponsors of the subsidies declared that mass-transit systems are folding all over the nation and only federal help can keep many of them running.

Opponents declared the program would mean an endless drain on the Treasury, since cities could keep fares at uneconomic levels and put in for more and more subsidies.

The section on mortgage-closing costs would direct the Housing and Urban Development Department to develop within six months regulations putting controls on all settlement costs.

The provision would cover FHA and VA loans as well as conventional mortgages bought by government corporations.

The Senate expanded the provision on the floor to prohibit kickbacks on the part of lawyers, title companies, insurance firms and others in connection with the closings.

The consolidation section of the bill, asked by Nixon, would set up eight basic housing-assistance programs to replace the present total of about 50.

Another provision, concerned with the President's special revenue-sharing proposal for housing, would consolidate eight programs aimed at elimination of slums and improvement of urban housing.

Or let's assume you have some clout — as a member of a strong labor union. Everything costs more, you insist that you therefore need more pay, you get tough about it — striking, if necessary — to get higher wages. Everybody's doing it. Wages go up, the price of goods has to go up, we're back in the old inflationary spiral.

From whatever angle you view it, the family purse gets flatter. It's not especially because it's VAT; any new, large tax would have the same effect. Maybe it's time to think about giving — for example — the Greek colonels fewer guns, and the American consumer a little tax relief.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices, aided and abetted by the industrial issues, rose again Friday, the third consecutive day in which trading was heavy.

Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange, 903 to 525.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been pushing against a previous high of 936.06 set last May 14, broke through with a gain of 8.86 to 942.43, the highest level since last April 29, when it stood at 948.15.

Commenting on the trend, John Smith of Farnestock & Co. said that one of the favorable economic items in the news was that "new factory orders were up 6.2 per cent in January, the sharpest climb in nearly 16 years."

Another factor was that "some chain stores have reported a big sales month in February."

Also in the news was a report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics that the unemployment rate dropped from 5.9 in January to 5.7 in February, the second consecutive monthly decline. It added that the employment situation was "essentially unchanged."

Institutional investors remained active, but at a lower rate than Thursday. Friday's block trades numbered 164, compared with 185 the day before.

The NYSE price index of more than 1,300 common stocks closed at 60.07, up .34.

The Big Board turnover was 20.42 million shares, compared with 22.20 million Thursday and 23.67 million Wednesday.

The number of issues traded reached 1,756, with advances leading declines, 903 to 525.

The new yearly highs were 130 and the new yearly lows 4. The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 2.8 to 335.9. Industrials rose 4.5 to 503.6, rails were ahead 1.1 to 190.5, and utilities gained 1.3 to 135.5.

The volume leader on the New York Stock Exchange was Kimberly-Clark, off 1/2 to 26 1/2 on 357,300 shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose .14 to 28.14. The volume was 7.48 million shares, compared with Thursday's 7.71 million. Of the 1,232 issues that changed hands, there were 589 that gained and 414 that lost.

Jersey Motor Agency plans suburban site. The Sunderland Motor Company of Jerseyville, which has occupied the same building on South Washington in Jerseyville for 52 years, this week began construction of a new garage building on a five-acre tract of land about one mile south of the center of Jerseyville on Route 267A.

Mr. Sunderland, Lloyd Sunderland, Jr., says this will provide better service to all car and truck owners in the area. The new building will be a brick construction with a colonial showroom in front of 12 service stalls. There will be a 14 body repair staff and a 3,000-square-foot parts room. Additional new equipment will be installed and will include a new class "C" test station and a new front-end rack.

The building will be constructed by Diestelkamp Construction Company of St. Louis and will be completed in approximately 200 days.

VAT Has Its Drawbacks

(Last of Two Related Articles.)

By CARLTON SMITH
What would be the effect on the family purse of a VAT — the value-added tax whose mechanics we described in our last column?

It's not planned to ask for a VAT in the coming budget year — so one administration spokesman has said, at least — but there is undeniable evidence that it's on the drawing board. The VAT has been the principal source of government revenue in major European countries for a number of years, and it's so effective a tax that there's an obvious appeal to the thinkers in Washington, ever more hungry for money as deficit spending reaches record highs.

Basically, the VAT is a national sales tax, though it's imposed on "value added" to a product at each stage of manufacture or distribution. Thus a carton of milk, passing through half a dozen hands (and udders) from cow to supermarket, might pick up at the various stages taxes of three cents, two cents, one cent, etc. Each is passed along, and if they ultimately total eight cents, the consumer pays eight cents more for his carton of milk.

The administration's drawing-board plans for the VAT call for softening the blow in a couple of ways. Schools would be financed by VAT revenues, so local property taxes could be reduced — by about half, it's estimated. There would be a reduction of federal income taxes, at lower income levels, to offset the burden of the VAT on those least able to support government spending programs.

But make no mistake about it, no complete trade-off is contemplated. The VAT appeals because, on balance, it would bring in more tax revenues — a good deal more. Every dollar spent from the family purse would be further reduced by taxes.

In the broad economic picture, that would have an effect on personal savings. It's simple: If everything costs more, and you try to maintain your erstwhile standard of living, you don't have as much left over — if any — to channel into savings, mutual fund shares or whatever. Personal savings are the main source of mortgage money. Mortgage money would get tight, rates would go up and houses would cost more.

Or let's assume you haven't had any surplus going into savings. Ends just meet from one month to another. In that case you can't, and don't, maintain your erstwhile standard of living. You cut back. You buy less consumer goods — mainly in the luxury-item category, where you have a choice. In that sector of the economy which makes and sells such goods, it's going to look like a recession.

Or let's assume you have some clout — as a member of a strong labor union. Everything costs more, you insist that you therefore need more pay, you get tough about it — striking, if necessary — to get higher wages. Everybody's doing it. Wages go up, the price of goods has to go up, we're back in the old inflationary spiral.

From whatever angle you view it, the family purse gets flatter. It's not especially because it's VAT; any new, large tax would have the same effect. Maybe it's time to think about giving — for example — the Greek colonels fewer guns, and the American consumer a little tax relief.

She'd Like To Have 'Spot' Heating Pads

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with heating pads so I hope the manufacturers are open to suggestions from non-professionals. I want to suggest a mid-sized pad that is just large enough to place between the nose and ear, under the eye near the bottom of the cheek bone or for application to a certain place on the face. I would also like pads for the neck that were a little bit larger.

A central electric cord could have branch cords running out from it to hold one, two, three or even four small pads, which would seem much more convenient than one standard size. Each small pad would have a separate control. Thanks for using this idea and also to any manufacturer who might see it and give it consideration.

WILDLIFE OFFICERS
SHOT IN GUNBATTLE
TERRYTOWN, Fla. (UPI) — Two Florida wildlife officers were shot—one of them five times—in a gun battle that erupted in the Everglades while they were looking for suspected wildlife poachers.

Officers Ernest C. Campbell, 30, and Clayton Wilkes, 24, were on patrol in the glades near the Broward-Palm Beach County line Thursday night when they spotted a car on a wilderness road.

As Campbell approached the car, one of its three occupants whirled and opened fire, authorities said.

In the ensuing gun battle, Campbell was wounded five times and Wilkes was shot in the hand. The suspects fled the area in their car, but were captured a short time later by a highway patrolman.

Much-Used Drug Causes Babies To Be Born Armless

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The doctor who discovered the devastating effects of Thalidomide in 1960 said Friday he has discovered an international market for a potentially more severe.

Dr. William McBride said the drug, an antidepressant called Imipramine, may cause babies to be born without arms.

"We have found three cases in Sydney of children born without arms in which it can be proved definitely that the mothers had taken Imipramine in early pregnancy," the gynecologist said.

Like Thalidomide, which also causes birth defects, Imipramine affects the patient's nervous system.

"They destroy the nerve cells that supply limbs. Once you destroy these, the limbs will not develop," McBride said.

Imipramine — which comes as an orange tablet — is manufactured by seven companies and marketed under 30 brand names, he said.

It is prescribed for women suffering from fits of crying, fatigue, sleeplessness and headaches.

McBride said he feared Imipramine may have been prescribed throughout the world and he has alerted both Australian and world health authorities to the dangers of the drug.

McBride said the manufacturers warned against the drugs during pregnancy, but the message was on a small piece of paper inside the box containing the tablets. He said it should be on the bottle itself.

"They state that clinical observations have not, with complete certainty, excluded the possibility that development of the human fetus may be influenced," he said.

"Unfortunately, women do not know they are pregnant until the 14th day after fertilization, at the earliest. And it may not be until the 21st or 28th day before the pregnancy is confirmed, even later.

"The limb buds of an unborn child develop from 35th day. It is very easy for a woman, particularly one suffering from a depressive state — as this is the indication for use of the drug — to ingest Imipramine at the critical time of limb development."

Violence In Films Termed Dangerous To Young Minds

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Otto Preminger, a man whose own temperament is as unpredictable as nitroglycerin, believes that violence on the screen is more dangerous to youthful minds than sex scenes.

"I let my own children go to any picture and read any magazine," he said. "And I discuss things with them."

"I think the only thing dangerous to young children is to show them acts of violence. I don't think sex is too harmful or should be made too mysterious."

"But acts of violence lead to war." The producer conceded, however, that his viewpoint was debatable.

"Some psychiatrists think you get violence out of your system by being shown scenes of it," he said.

Preminger has produced, directed or acted in 39 pictures since 1942, and his bald pate and pendulous lip have become Hollywood landmarks. His latest film, "Such Good Friends," is rated by critics as one of his better ones.

It is said that Otto can reduce even the most egocentric actor or actress to a quivering mass of outraged jelly quicker than any other producer in the industry. But he feels that this picture of him as a studio autocrat is overdrawn. He is really, he says, a mild man.

The producer, trained to be a lawyer in his native Vienna, likes controversy and sophisticated living. Asked to say what he thought life was in one word, he replied, "Enjoyment."

He put his philosophy this way: "The greatest strength a person can achieve is to live by his own standards and convictions. I could not work if I worried about what others think or say about me."

Work is the keystone of his life and his only hobby. He and his staff filter 50 or more scripts a month seeking a story he feels he can turn into a notable film.

These are the things Preminger likes: Learning from young people—music, vodka and good red wine—modern paintings—

the smells and flowers of spring—black and white furniture—beautiful women—foods I can't eat because they make me fat—the privacy and excitement of New York City—the smell of leather—traveling—and active, easygoing people who get things done."

These are what Otto dislikes: "The feel of silk, it makes me nervous—violence, wars—noise—ugly fat women, although I feel sorry for them—the crime wave in New York streets—the lack of control that leads to wars—people who are liars or submissive. I prefer outspoken people even though I disagree with them."

THE DOCTOR SAYS Only Germs Cause Venereal Disease

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column on venereal disease and I have a few questions that weren't answered. I am the mother of two teenage children and questions are frequently put to me that I feel must be answered. I understand that VD is contracted from sexual contact and caused by bacteria, but how does it originate in the beginning? Is it the type of sexual activity or is it only by intercourse with an infected partner? Can two people who are free of the disease infect each other because of their personal habits or can it be started by having sexual intercourse with more than one person if none are infected? Can it originate on its own because of unclean conditions? I believe these are questions that our young inexperienced teenagers need to know.

Dear Reader—You are absolutely right. There is hardly any problem that is benefited by ignorance. The two most common forms of venereal disease, syphilis and gonorrhea, are usually transmitted from an infected person to a noninfected person. In other words, you can't get venereal disease from sexual intercourse unless one of the partners already has the disease. While cleanliness is desirable, unless venereal disease is present there is no way that sexual intercourse by itself will cause it.

Gonorrhea is spread by sexual intercourse. Syphilis is almost always spread that way, too. However, I must add that the germ that causes syphilis can survive for a short period of time in moisture outside the human body. Thus, it is possible to transmit syphilis if the germ is in a drop of fluid from a person who has syphilis and it comes in contact with an infected person who transmits infected moist droplets from one person to another. Obviously, what is commonly referred to as "French kissing" is one way.

A person may be physically clean and still have venereal disease. The female is particularly likely to have no symptoms at all from disease. The male usually has symptoms, usually a discharge.

And it should be emphasized that some studies show that a girl on birth control pills has a greater chance of being infected if she is exposed to gonorrhea. Apparently the pill affects the body's normal resistance.

Today's hand from the Culbertson "Battle Royal" is most instructive in that it points out a very common error. We call this error "the premature ruff."

West opened the king of clubs and shifted to the six of trumps. South won and led the ace and another diamond. He ruffed the second diamond in dummy; and if he could have led another diamond from his hand and ruffed that he would have made his contract.

Unfortunately, he was in dummy. A trump lead would do no good. He finally made a good effort. He played dummy's queen of clubs so as to force West into the lead. Maybe West would not have the last trump. Unfortunately West did hold it and led it, whereupon South had to wind up with only nine tricks.

All South had to do to make his contract was to think for a moment before leading to trick-three. Then he could play either a club or a heart.

West would win and lead the second trump; but now South would be able to make the same diamond play and then discard his last diamond on whichever card he had set up in dummy.

What do you do now?

A—Bid six spades. Your partner knows you passed originally and he is still trying for a slam after you have given him a chance to stop at game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five spades, your partner bids four no-trump. You show two aces. He bids five no-trump. You bid six clubs and he bids six diamonds. What do you do now?

Crimsons Suffer Heartbreaking 74-73 Loss

Long: Proud As Can Be Of Team

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

QUINCY—Disappointed but proud in defeat. That came the closest to summing up Jacksonville High School coach Frank Long's feelings following a heartbreaking 74-73 loss to Quincy High School in the title game of the Quincy 'AA' Regional Friday evening.

Obviously and understandably disappointed in the spirited but point-short Crimsons effort, Long was quick to give credit to both outfits in the rough and exciting battle played before a near capacity gymnasium.

"I'm just as proud as I can be of this team," said Long. "They gave all they had to give and they should be proud. They kept coming back, especially after being down 12 points in the first half."

Commenting on the Crimsons' man-to-man defense that forced Quincy into 25 turnovers, Long added, "We got behind and had to go into a half-court press in the first half, but other than that we stayed in the man-to-man defense all night and I felt we did a good job most of the time. Quincy has some good shooters and you can't let them have the good shots."

"We felt (Kel) Gott could score underneath, but I haven't seen them go to him like that all year," commented Long when asked about the reserve Gott getting 22 points. "They knew we were in foul trouble and wanted to get him inside on us."

Concerning the fine play from several players, Long commented, "That's the kind of team we've been all year. When Fairfield was in trouble some of the other guys came along to pick up. Fairfield got a lot of attention and pressure, but we have the guys to come off the bench and do the job."

On the Crimsons' cold first quarter (16 per cent), Long offered, "We were a little tight. We had the good shots, but they just weren't going down. Quincy always gets off to a fast start. We knew that and hoped to prevent it."

Veteran Quincy coach Sherill Hanks readily offered that free throws were the deciding difference in the game. "Free throws had to decide the game because there were so many shot (70), but both teams made some pressure free throws. I don't think there was any one turning point, but we almost made one. That was some brilliant strategy when we went out of our regular game with a seven point lead and tried to go into a delay game. They came right back within one point."

Asked about Gott's 22-point night, Hanks said, "He was just super. That was his best night scoring and he did a superb job on defense. He did the best job of the three on Fairfield. We wanted to go to him when Wilson got his third foul, as

Say Rupp Will Support Attempt To Retain Post

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Attorney John Young Brown said Friday the movement to keep Adolph Rupp at the University of Kentucky despite his age has the support of the basketball coach himself.

During a news conference, Brown telephoned Rupp in Lexington and told the 70-year-old coach of plans to request a hearing before the Kentucky board of trustees.

After hanging up the telephone, Brown announced, "He's in favor of it, and he wants to move quickly."

Brown and Kentucky College pro basketball star Dan Issel are heading a drive to seek a change in the university's retirement rule or a waiver in Rupp's case.

Brown said his basic argument will be that Rupp should not be forced to retire "as long as he has the capacity to do the job."

Rupp is due to retire July 1 under Kentucky's present policy.

Trevino Has 2nd Round Doral Lead

MIAMI (AP) — Super Mex Lee Trevino solved his putting woes with a second consecutive 69 and moved into full control of the second-round lead Friday in the $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open golf tournament.

Trevino, who swept the American, Canadian and British Opens last year, was six under par with a two-round total of 138 on the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Sam Snead, a 59-year-old giant from another golfing era, and 42-year-old Paul Harney were one stroke off the pace at 139. Snead managed a 68 and Harney, a Massachusetts club pro who won the Andy Williams-San Diego Open earlier this season, had a 69.

Veteran Bob Rosburg, Ken Still and non-winner Jerry McGee were next at 140. McGee took a 68, Still 69 and Rosburg scrambled to a 71.

Julius Boros celebrated his 52nd birthday with a 70 and was one of three at 141, just three strokes back of Trevino. Bobby Mitchell, with a 71, and Butch Baird, 72, also were at that figure.

Jack Nicklaus, who needs to win the $30,000 first prize here to pass idle Arnold Palmer on the all-time money winning list, was one of a large group at 142.

Nicklaus had a second consecutive 71 but warned, "I'm playing much better. I missed 12 putts inside 20 feet. I'm getting the weight back to the right and then through the ball better than I have in six weeks."

He won the Bing Crosby Tournament six weeks ago.

Trevino, the brash and irreverent pro who stormed golf's citadels and won Athlete of the Year honors last year, still was less than pleased with his performance after he bogeyed the 18th hole from a bunker.

"I've been in the traps, and haven't got it up and down yet this week," he said. "I'm gonna go find me some sand and do some practicing."

He had three bogeys, all from bunkers.

But the 32-year-old Trevino rolled in birdie putts of 12, 20 and 35 feet.

"I'm putting better, but it's not all back yet," Trevino said. "I hit 600 practice putts yesterday and I'm going to the green now to hit some more."

Trevino hasn't won this year, but had a share of the lead in the Crosby until he was buried in a bunker and took a double bogey in the stretch drive.

The 59-year-old Snead, a living legend who won the last of his 84 official victories in 1967, three-putted his last green to miss a share of the top spot.

"I'm scraping the bottom of the barrel," he said of his game. "I'm just getting by on experience. I'm still playing pretty well, but I get scared quicker."

Gibby Gilbert, who held the first round lead with a 68, pumped two in the water on the treacherous 10th hole, his first, and took an eight en route to a 79 that knocked him out of competition.

The redesigned hole, a par five with water along the entire left side and behind the green, claimed another flock of extremely high scores.

Larry Ziegler took a nine. Informed that Steve Bogard had carded an 11 on the same hole, Ziegler smiled and said: "Yeah, but I was playing it safe."

Pirate Pitching Zoo Tops Chisox

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates used their pitching zoo of Bob Moore, Bob Veale and John Lamb Friday to defeat the Chicago White Sox 2-0 in a spring exhibition baseball opener for both teams.

Moore, Veale and Lamb hurled three innings apiece and held the Sox to a total of five singles. Only one Chicago baserunner advanced to third.

Wilbur Wood, Sox 22-game winner, was the loser and was nipped for an unearned run in the second inning when Chicago was charged with two infield errors. One was by shortstop Bee Bee Richards and the other by first baseman Tony Muser.

Pittsburgh scored its second run without a hit in the fourth. Pitcher Dennis O'Toole opened with a walk to Gene Cline. He stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored on Al Oliver's sacrifice fly.

Piasa Beats Back Porta Rally, 73-70

Ray Taylor Sparks Edge In Overtime

By JERRY SEIBERT

CARLINVILLE — Casey Duncheon sparked the Porta Bluejays to an amazing fourth quarter comeback, but the Jays could not hang on down the stretch without their senior major man and lost a cliff-hanger, 73-70, to Southwestern in an overtime contest for the 'A' sectional championship here Friday night.

Southwestern led by as much as 11 with just four minutes left in the game before Porta got its fast break untracked and reeled off the next fifteen points to go up by four with just over a minute remaining, but Duncheon drew his fifth personal with 1:40 on the clock and it was uphill for the Bluejays after that.

The Piasa Birds' first sectional championship ever sends them against Quincy Catholic Boys in the Macomb Western Supersectional next Tuesday night to battle for the right to advance to Champaign.

The showdown before a jam-packed Carlinville High school gym had been long awaited by area sports fans as it featured the two top class 'A' teams in the region and it was every bit as exciting as anticipated.

Southwestern now sports a 26-2 season slate while Porta bows out of the small school state title running with a very respectable 24-3 mark.

After Duncheon's exit the Birds' Gene Haynes dropped in a pair of gift shots to cut the lead to two, but Porta center Kevin Washington moved it back to four with an offensive rebound basket, but it was the Bluejays' next to last gasp.

Southwestern roared back with six straight points of its own by Charlie Huebener and Ray Taylor to hold a 66-64 margin with 37 seconds left. When Haynes missed the first of a one and one for the Birds, Porta got the rebound and substitute Andy Winklemann calmly banked in an eight-footer with the game into overtime.

Taylor emerged as the hero for Southwestern in the overtime as he bucketed the winners' first five points to counter a baseline basket by Porta's Greg Squires and set the tally at 71-68 with 1:10 left in the game. Jim Rathgeb notched a pair of free throws to up the advantage to 73-68 before Steve Hofing determined the final tally with a baseline at the ten-second mark.

"Our defense did a great job and controlled the game for us until the final four minutes when Duncheon opened it up for Porta," revealed a jubilant, but weary Dick Well, head coach of the winning Birds.

Blue Testifying Before Congress About Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vida Blue, the Oakland Athletics' elusive pitcher, will testify before a Senate subcommittee Monday, it was learned Friday.

Blue has failed to sign a 1972 baseball contract and, according to A's owner Charlie Finley, has refused to talk to the team. He is reported to be at his home in Baton Rouge, La.

The left-hander, who is asking between $95,000 and $102,000, will appear before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, which is conducting hearings on a bill to allow the National Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association to merge.

Also scheduled to testify Monday will be basketball star Bill Bradley of the New York Knicks; John Mackey of pro football's Baltimore Colts; Ed Garvey, executive director, National Football League Players Association, and former football player Bernie Parrish of the Cleveland Browns.

Spirited Comebacks Thwarted At Finish

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

QUINCY—From the field and for three solid quarters an underdog Jacksonville High School team outplayed state powerhouse Quincy High Friday night, but the Crimsons suffered a 74-73 heartbreaking loss from the charity stripe in the title game of the Quincy 'AA' Regional Tournament.

A quick look at the box score points out the deciding difference in the rough, spirited contest that saw the battling Crimsons come back time and again only to fall to some pressure free throw firing by the Blue Devils.

A statistics wrapup further shows the gaping differences in the game. Quincy hit a red-hot 51 per cent from the field to JHS' 36 per cent, but the Blue Devils managed only 41 shots to 73 by the losers. Jacksonville held a slim 32-20 board edge, but picked off a whopping 22 offensive retrievers, and had on 16 turnovers to a whopping 25 by the winners, a credit to the JHS man-to-man defense. Moore led all scorers with 26 points, but the big surprise was reserve Kel Gott's 22-point night, his varsity best ever. Fairfield, who got 21 for the Crimsons, who got double figure scoring also from Bonds, Aring and Wilson, who played only a little over a quarter due to constant foul problems.

Statistics
Shooting

Quincy, top-rated in the field and high in the state ratings all season, dominated the opening eight minutes thanks to Jacksonville's key 16 per cent shooting on three of 18 tries. Moore and Gott, who killed the Crimsons all night along the baseline, sparked the Blue Devils from a 3-1 deficit to leads of 13-7 at the halfway mark and 21-11 at the break.

After falling 12 back at 23-12 on another Gott bucket, the Jaks came alive. Fairfield, Olson and Wilson led a surge of ten straight points to turn a 32-23 deficit into a 33-32 lead with 1:18 showing in the first half.

Hitting 50 per cent for the quarter, JHS led again 35-34 on Wilson's baseline tip but Gott countered with a three-point play 17 at the buzzer in one of the key plays of the game for a 37-35 Quincy lead. JHS was outshot 33 to 47 per cent for the half, but forced Quincy into ten second frame mistakes.

The lead changed hands three times early in the second half. Before Fairfield hit a pair of buckets for a 43-40 Crimsons advantage, Moore and Gott, who hit all ten shots attempted, matched Olson, Aring and Bonds in the next three minutes, with JHS leading 53-50, and 55-52 before Gott and Moore scored in the last 30 seconds for the 56-55 count entering the last quarter of the season for the Crimsons.

The Crimsons outscored Quincy by nine points through the last three quarters, once coming from a 12-point deficit, and outgunned the winners by 12 points from the field, getting off an unbelievable 32 more attempts from the field. The big deficit came from the foul line where the Blue Devils cashed in 32 of 43 attempts to only 19 of 27 by JHS. A total of 64 fouls were whistled, 30 on the Jaks.

Besides the free throw difference, Jacksonville lost Ron Fairfield, Leland Wilson and Ed Aring with five in the closing, hectic chapter of the game that was not decided until the final nine seconds.

The victory boosts Quincy into the Springfield Sectional next week with a match against Mattoon next on the list for the 23-4 club. Jacksonville bows out with a 17-8 record.

Picking up the action with eight minutes left, Quincy boosted a 56-55 third stanza lead to 58-55 with the first two of ten fourth frame charity shots. Fairfield kept JHS close with six points in the next three minutes before Bob Spear hit a bucket and two gift shots for a 66-61 bulge as Fairfield drew his fifth with 3:20 left. Getting the ball back after a JHS miss, the Blue Devils tried to hold the ball the rest of the way but the strategy failed.

The hustling Crimsons forced Quincy to cough up the ball the next three trips down the floor and Jim Bonds and Aring quickly altered the difference to 68-67 with 1:48 to play.

Guard Jim Wisman hit two gift tries ten seconds later but Bonds countered for another one-point difference with 1:22 left. Spears cashed both ends of a one-and-one inside the final minute, but reserve Bill Turner hit a pressure baseline seven seconds later, Aring swiped a pass but missed the layup before all-state guard candidate

Larry Moore was called for charging into Tim Reiterman.

Getting the ball back with 25 seconds showing, the Crimsons missed the go-ahead chance when Reiterman was whistled for traveling while hitting a shot 12 from the finish. Reiterman then was forced to foul Moore, who hit both ends three seconds later for the difference as Reiterman canned a driving layup, trying to draw a foul, as the horn sounded.

Shoemaker Eyes One More Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jockey Bill Shoemaker, having added one more world record to his illustrious list, gets a chance to get closer to his current goal on Saturday.

The 40-year-old reinman goes aboard Turkish Trousters in the $100,000 Invitational Santa Margarita Handicap for older fillies and mares at Santa Anita and a victory would give him No. 92 in $100,000 races with his goal to win in 100 of them.

Top opposition is expected from defending champion Manta and Tupecast, the gal who led during the early weeks at Santa Anita before being whipped by Turkish Trousters in the Santa Maria on Feb. 19. In the previous Santa Monica, it was Tupecast over Turkish Trousters.

In the Santa Margarita, Tupecast gets in with 124 pounds with 125 for Turkish Trousters and 127 for Manta who won under 126 a year ago.

The race drew an entry list of a dozen including the A.T. Doyle-trained entry of Tupecast and Gala Occasion.

Laffit Pincay Jr. rides Tupecast with Howard Grand aboard Manta in what shapes up as a three-horse race despite the large list of distaff runners for the 1 1/4-mile test.

Mrs. Howard B. Keck's Turkish Trousters reigned as the national champion 3-year-old filly of 1971 and could go off as the betting favorite, especially with Shoemaker in the saddle.

He scored his 855th stakes victory aboard Royal Owl in a race of 3-year-olds on Thursday to eclipse the record he held jointly with Eddie Arcaro. In 1970, Shoemaker became the world's winningest rider and his current total overall stood at 6,286 going into Friday's program.

Winner of the Santa Margarita collects $60,000 with $20,000 to the runnerup and $12,000 for third place.

In addition to the three favorites, the entries are Convenience, Balcony's Babe, Night Staker, Street Dancer, Sea Saga, Minstrel Mias, Gowran Green and Last of the Line. Tupecast's stablemate, Gala Occasion, gets in with the lightweight of 109.

126er HITS 300
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If you are a woman bowler with a 126 average and have never bowled 225, think how Mrs. Bernita Cade of Mahomet, Ill., feels after bowling a 300 game.

Those were the facts reported to the Women's International Bowling Congress after Mrs. Cade, a 29-year-old mother of three, rolled a house ball to a perfect game last December.

Christian, CBQ Lead 'A' Field

Heavily-favored Chicago Christian and Quincy Catholic Boys easily triumphed, while Illinois Bluffs, one of two unbeaten clubs, was eliminated Friday night as championships rounds were played in the Illinois Class A High School sectional tournament at 16 centers.

The other undefeated team in the small school field, Shabbona, made it 27-0 with a 51-39 romp over Aurora Central in the Hinckley sectional.

Illini Bluffs was ousted, after 26 straight victories, in a 53-38 trouncing by Normal High at Normal.

Chicago Christian, now 28-1, swept into next Tuesday's supersectional play with a 61-43 conquest of Marseilles. Christian's foe in the Pontiac super-will be Woodland (24-4), a close 50-58 victor over Princeville in the Wenona sectional.

Quincy Catholic Boys, with a deceptive 18-12 record, thumped Augusta 97-77 as Dan Pieper poured in 35 points for the winners at Quincy.

One of the evening's outstanding individual performances was a 48-point spree by Dennis Graff as he led Gibson City to a 77-67 defeat of Watseka at Danville. Gibson City meets Normal High in Tuesday's supersectional at Normal.

Another strong Chicago area parochial school, Elgin St. Edward, upping its record to 24-2, wore down Hampshire 65-52 at Kaneland to move against unbeaten Shabbona in the Dekalb super.

Braves Manager Plays Pat Hand

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — It appears that Manager Luman Harris of the Atlanta Braves is playing a pat hand for the 1972 major league baseball season.

Appearances, however, are often deceiving, and Harris hopes that's the case now.

True, the 1972 roster generally contains the same names that were listed a year ago when the Braves closed strongly to finish third in the National League West. A king-sized injury list and mediocre pitching hampered the Braves in 1971.

Hank Aaron, the 33-year-old star who carries a hefty $200,000 a year contract into his 19th season, missed more than 20 games last year, many of those because of a nagging injury to a left knee that was drained several times during the year.

Rico Carty, the 1970 National League batting champion, missed all of last year because of a knee injury and Orlando Cepeda, the power-hitting first baseman, played in only 71 games before undergoing knee surgery.

Their absence, however, speeded the arrival of a pair of youngsters apparently destined for stardom—catcher Earl Williams and outfielder Ralph Garr. Williams belted 33 homers and won the National League Rookie-of-the-Year award. Garr finished second in the NL batting race with a .343 average and also stole 30 bases.

Still, the major question to be resolved at the training camp is whether Cepeda and Carty will be able to play.

If they are deemed physically fit, it will present Harris with a pleasant problem—deciding on a lineup that would place some former starters on the bench.

Harris said he hoped to experiment with Aaron and Cepeda at third base where young starter Darrell Evans returns.

Veteran Sonny Jackson, who switched from shortstop to center field last year, could have problems earning a starting berth from Dusty Baker or Garr, if Carty is available for left field. Mike Lum, a native of Hawaii, replaced Aaron in right after the Hammer moved

AP Learns Nets Traded Rights To Cougar Star

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Nets have traded their American Basketball Association draft rights to Bill Chamberlain, 6-foot-4 forward from North Carolina University to the Carolina Cougars, the Associated Press learned Friday.

Details of the trade were not known since the Nets, Utah and Kentucky have not revealed their choices in the five rounds of the ABA college draft held Wednesday.

A league spokesman said the remainder of the draft would be held later this month, but did not specify the exact date. He said the remaining rounds would be made public by the ABA and perhaps the first five rounds of the so-called secret draft.

It was also learned Friday that the Nets had two picks on the fifth round, choosing senior forwards Bob Lackey of Marquette and Jobie Wright of Indiana University. In other choices revealed Friday, Kentucky landed Hawaii's Bob Nash and Carolina was believed to have taken UCLA backcourt star Henry Bibby.

Among the first round choices Thursday were: Virginia—forward Bob McAdoo, who has one year of eligibility left at North Carolina; Carolina—center Tom Riker; Denver—forwards Bud Stallworth of Kansas and Paul Stovall of Arizona State; Florida—forward Dwight Davis of Houston; Dallas—center LaRue Martin of Chicago Loyola.

Each of the 11 clubs were permitted one underclassman each on the first round.

The ABA announced Friday that its board of trustees will hold a special meeting here March 8. The agenda will include a report on the proposed merger with the National Basketball Association, the college draft, the Jim McDaniels case and stabilization of franchises.

The Pittsburgh and Florida franchises are reportedly in jeopardy with San Diego, Albuquerque, Omaha, Kansas City and New Haven, Conn., among the leading cities being considered in case of a franchise shift.

The 1972 Duke football team has high hopes for quarterback Mark Johnson and running backs Mark Landon and Mike Bomgardner, all sophomores.

'Tex' Williams More Relaxed

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Somehow Tex Williams didn't look right.

Ordinarily restless, impatient and animated, he was in complete repose now. Maybe because he was doing something he loved.

He was staring directly at the pitcher. He was sitting in the compact boxlike dugout bordering the third base line here and both eyes were riveted out there on the mound watching like a hawk as his Texas Rangers went through their training chores.

"You're starting your fourth year here. Is it easier than it was?" someone broke his concentration.

"If I sit down and think about that first day ... I remember it was right here ... can't believe it's been four years," said the manager of the new Rangers looking more like the old Ted Williams again.

"Four years," he repeated. You could almost hear his mind working. "I'm more at ease, more comfortable."

"Do you still take those tablets for your stomach?" the guy in the dugout asked him. "Once in a while," Williams said. "I don't need 'em all the time. I don't use 'em too much."

RUSS TO GIVE MUJIB $42 MILLION IN PROMISED AID

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has promised Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman that it will give his Bangladesh government $42 million in aid promised the Pakistani government for Mujib's territory while it was East Pakistan, Bangladesh sources reported.

The funds, obtained by the prime minister during two days of talks with Soviet leaders in the Kremlin, are to finance a thermal power plant, an electrical manufacturing plant, oil and gas exploration, radio facilities and other development projects.

The Soviet government froze the funds just before the India-Pakistan war in December, in which Bangladesh was born. The Soviets sided with India in the war.

Bangladesh sources added Thursday night that additional technical, industrial and other kinds of assistance to the war-torn nation is to be provided under a second agreement between Mujib and the Soviet leaders. No figure was given for this aid, but the sources said it would be substantial.

The second agreement is to be initiated before the Bengali leader ends his visit on Monday.

The United States has not recognized Mujib's government, and there has been no word from Washington of revival of any U.S. development projects in the region. But the United States has contributed about $100 million in food and medical assistance for Bangladesh and its refugees in India.

"What's the toughest thing you've had to do on this job?"

"Make the transition from ballplayer to manager."

"The generation gap bother you?"

"Oh pshaw," Williams said. "I don't have a n y problems. Never with that anyway."

"You're gonna find a little blue moon gripping once in awhile. Like calisthenics, for example. The guys who gripe the most are those who had the worst years."

"You never did as a ballplayer?"

"Yes, about an unfair article, but not about the manager, not about conditions."

"What do you think about managing in general?"

"It's all right. I think the longer you manage the less patience you have. It gets harder as you get older. You see guys not taking advantage of their potential and it burns you up."

"Ever think about quitting?"

"No. The reason I don't is because I don't have any pickering or badgering from the front office. I have full rapport with Bob Short. I like the guy and I think he'll do a good job for baseball if they'll let him."

"How are you and Denny McLain getting along now?"

"Fine. We've talked the whole thing over. He told me what he thinks and I told him what I think, and we're gonna do what I think."

"As a manager, do you see some things now you didn't as a ballplayer? Would you do anything differently?"

"No, no," Williams barked. "I don't see what I could've done differently. Well, maybe I would've practiced my fielding more. I've always said that."

Out on the field, Don Drysdale, the ex-Dodger rifleman, stood behind the batting cage talking about his experiences with Williams. Drysdale did some pitching instructing and broadcasting for Montreal last year but this year he'll be doing TV and radio work for the Rangers. He was telling how Williams greeted him here this spring.

"He said 'I've always been meaning to ask you—that first pitch you threw me in the 1959 All-Star Game—it sunk like no ordinary sinker I ever saw before. I'm not too sure about that pitch. What was it?'"

Drysdale related, laughing all the time.

"He talked about something else for awhile," Drysdale went on. "And then said, 'You still haven't answered my question.'"

The one-time Dodger fastballer hasn't yet.

Williams has a pretty good idea anyway what kind of a pitch Drysdale threw him that day.

Thornridge Rips Into Sectional

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kel Gott with 22 topped Quincy's attack.

Thornridge's high-flying Falcons coasted to their 48th straight victory Friday night in capturing their own Class AA regional championship.

Led by Boyd Batts with 33 points and Quinn Buckner with 32 points, the Falcons rolled past Thornton-Fractional North 101-68 for their 48th straight victory.

The defending state champions tied the previous state record of 48 consecutive victories set by Taylorville in 1945. It marked Thornridge's 27th straight triumph this season.

Banging into next week's sectionals with the Falcons were second-ranked LaSalle-Peru and No. 3 Hinsdale Central.

LaSalle-Peru, rolling to its 18th straight victory and boosting its record to 26-1, swept past Streator 75-58 as Gary Hopps led the way with 25 points. Third-ranked Hinsdale Central hiked its record to 23-1 with a narrow 62-59 victory over Willowbrook.

Springfield Southeast sprung the evening's major upset by clipping fourth ranked Lincoln 66-64. Lincoln held a commanding 16-point lead in the third quarter before Southeast put on its rally paced by Mark Hayes' 35 points.

Southeast boosted its record to 23-3 while Lincoln's hopes smoldered with a 24-3 mark.

Maine South, No. 5, rocked Ridgewood 80-51 to win its own regional while North Chicago, No. 6, edged seventh-ranked Waukegan 49-47.

Another close battle saw No. 8 Quincy edge Jacksonville 74-73 with the Blue Devils winning out on the free throw line. Larry Moore with 26 points and Greg Smith whipped in 36 points to lead 11th-ranked East Aurora to a 73-69 victory over rival West Aurora. The No. 13 team in the state. East Aurora took charge after a close first quarter and was in command the rest of the way.

Peoria Manual, No. 15, got a 33-point performance from Mike Davis and rolled over Galesburg 78-70 at Galesburg. The victory was the 17th straight for Manual which boosted its season mark to 21-6.

Kankakee Eastridge, No. 16, scored an 80-64 victory over Bradley to hike its mark to 22-4. Gary Schnell led Eastridge with 32 points and Jim Staples added 24.

Rockford Auburn and Rockford Harlem advanced to the Class AA Sectionals, with anything but glittering records. Auburn defeated Rockford West 56-55 on Mike Rafferty's winning basket to hike its record to 14-10. Harlem downed Guilford 68-58 and now has an 11-15 mark.

At DeKalb, Rochelle advanced with a 62-57 victory over the host team while Olney won its own regional with a 79-76 upset over Robinson, despite a 41-point scoring spree by the losers' Robin McCarter.

Houk Thinking Pennant... Again

(One of a Series)
By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Ralph Houk, the manager of the New York Yankees, is thinking pennant again.

But, then, Ralph Houk has been thinking pennant now through a six-year drought. Rarely a realist, always an optimist, Houk bases his attitude on his own personal axiom that "if you don't feel you have the men to do it you ought to get out of it."

It's an admirable stance, but it distorts the accuracy of the picture. For this Yankee team seems to have as much chance of overtaking the Baltimore Orioles in American League East as Shirley Chisholm has of being elected President.

The Orioles are too strong; the Yankees plagued by too many question-marks. But there is Houk's hope.

There is Houk's hope that relief pitchers Lindy McDaniel and Jack Aker, who saved 45 games in 1970 but only eight last year, will bounce back.

There is Houk's hope that the trade in which the Yankees sent pitcher Stan Bahnsen to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Rich McKinney will give the club more hitting.

There is Houk's hope that new faces such as outfielder Johnny Callison, infielders Hal Lanier and Bernie Allen and pitchers Rich Hinton and Jim Magnuson will make contributions.

There is Houk's hope that the starting four of Mel Stottlemyre, Fritz Peterson, Mike Kekich and Steve Kline will be more than make up for the departure of Bahnsen.

But it is just that—hope. What the Yankees can count on is a budding Super-Star in outfielder Bobby Murcer, consistent hitting from Roy White, improvement through maturity of first baseman Ron Blomberg, a turnaround by .251-hitting catcher Thurman Munson and effective pitching.

The Yankees need strong pitching because there isn't that much hitting, despite last year's .331 with 25 homers and 94 runs batted in by Murcer; White's .322 average, and Blomberg's .322 average with seven homers in 64 games after promotion from Syracuse.

Murcer and White hold two of the outfield positions with the line forming for the other. The candidates include Felipe Alou, Ron Swoboda, Callison and Rusty Torres, a .290 hitter with 19 homers at Syracuse.

Blomberg gets the first shot at first base, Horace Clarke is the incumbent second baseman, and Gene Michaels is the holdover at short and McKinney, a .271 hitter with eight homers, the new third baseman.

That leaves the pitching, with Stottlemyre and Peterson established big winners, Kekich and Kline still providing themselves and guys like Hinton, Magnuson and Alan Closter, promoted from Syracuse last year, looking for spots.

They are, of course, available for bullpen duty if McDaniel and Aker falter again. But Houk doesn't expect that.

"The bullpen didn't do the job—and that killed us" last year, said Houk.

It left the Yankees with an 82-80 record, just above .500. And it's hard to conceive of them making the jump from that plateau to a pennant, even if the bullpen does bounce-back.

That's some bounce. NEXT: Philadelphia Phillies

Indiana Prep Player Plans To Attend U Of I

CHAMPAIGN — Scott Studwell, a 6-1, 215-pound All-State linebacker from Evansville's (Ind.) Harrison High School, has told head coach Bob Blackman he will attend the University of Illinois on a football scholarship next fall.

Studwell was named to every Evansville All-City team, every All-Conference team and numerous All-State teams for his 1971 performance at linebacker.

"Scott Studwell is the finest linebacker we have ever had at Harrison and should have an outstanding college career. We also had to use Scott at wing back on offense since we run from a wing T with the entire success of our offense based on the ability of the wing back," said his high school coach Don Watson. "Scott did a great job of this and although he didn't carry the ball often, he had the speed to average 7.3 yards on the 38 times he did handle the ball."

He led Harrison in solo tackles with 139 and in a crucial game against Mater Dei High School in Evansville was credited with 19 solo tackles.

"It was great news when Scott phoned me to say that he had definitely selected the University of Illinois over the many other schools that had contacted him," said an elated Blackman.

"Scott is a handsome, exceptionally well-built young man from a very fine family. He ranks in the upper half of his class academically and is the type of individual who will be a credit to the University of Illinois in every way. He has the strength, quickness and aggressiveness to be an outstanding college linebacker."

"In our scheme of defense we use four linebackers at one time and think that things look good for the future with Scott Studwell, who we feel is the best linebacker in the State of Indiana, joining Brian Diedrich, the outstanding high school linebacker in the State of Illinois as a future member of the Fighting Illini." Coach Blackman concluded.

WORLD RECORD BLUE NEW YORK (AP) — A 21-pound, 12-ounce bluefish caught in Hatteras Inlet off North Carolina's outer banks last Jan. 30 exceeds the world's record for a blue by more than seven pounds, reports Aycock Brown of the Dade County Tourist Bureau.

The blue, boated by James M. Hussey of Tarboro, N.C., was weighed on two scales and full details have been sent to the International Game Fish Association.

Kick return specialist Dick Harris of Point Pleasant Beach, N.J., was drafted by the New York Jets in the fifth round. Safety Bo Davies of Gettysburg, Pa., was picked by the New Orleans Saints in the fifth round. Rover back Tyler Helms of Greenwood, S.C., was chosen by the Kansas City Chiefs in the 13th round.

UN May Be Site For Continuing U.S.-China Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sino-logist Robert Barnett says the United States and China may pick the United Nations headquarters as the site for continuing the dialogue begun in Peking by President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai.

Barnett said in an interview Monday that George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, may well continue the talks by meeting with his Chinese counterpart, Ambassador Huang Hua.

Barnett, vice president of the Asia Society and a former ranking State Department official, said failure to establish a diplomatic mission in Peking may have been Nixon's sharpest disappointment in the Peking talks.

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser, said a contact point will be established soon for U.S.-Chinese discussions of cultural and other exchanges and trade relations between the two countries.

REBROADCAST NOMINATION OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

"The Nomination of Abraham Lincoln," an account of the behind-the-scenes maneuvering at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1860, will be rebroadcast on "You Are There" 11:30 a.m.-Noon Saturday, March 11, on the CBS Television Network.

CBS News Correspondent Walter Cronkite reports on the fateful Republican choosing of the "dark horse from Illinois" over Lincoln's strong competitor, William Henry Seward.

MOVIES

SUNDAY

(4) (7) (31) 6:30 Movie — "A Fine Madness." Sean Connery, Joanne Woodward, Jean Seberg, Patrick O'Neal. Poet's struggle between artistic temperament and demands of domestic life results in a creative bloc. Psychiatrist attempts to solve his problem are hilarious.

(2) (17) 8:00 Movie — "Fireball Forward." Ben Gazzara, Eddie Albert, Ricardo Montalban.

(2) 10:15 Movie — "Tom Jones." Albert Finney, Susannah York. Traces the experiences of a rustic playboy from his shenanigans at home through his wild encounters in London with brigands, beauties and scoundrels.

(4) 10:30 Movie — "Fathom." Raquel Welch, Anthony Franciosa. The pace is not only fast but, at times, hectic in this spy thriller as a parachutist is forced to recover a priceless piece of jewelry from the bottom of the Mediterranean.

(11) 10:30 Movie — "It's a Gift." W. C. Fields, Baby Leroy. The life of a grocery store owner with a yen for orange groves changes drastically when he inherits money.

(20) 10:30 Movie — "Sex and the Single Girl." Tony Curtis, Natalie Wood, Henry Fonda, Lauren Bacall, Mel Ferrer, Larry Storch, Fran Jeffries, Edward Everett Horton, Stubby Kaye. The managing editor of a scandal magazine poses as his best friend in order to get an interview with a young woman psychologist. She falls in love with him and confesses it when he threatens to commit suicide over his marital problems.

(4) 12:25 Movie — "Slightly Scarlet." Rhonda Fleming, John Payne, Arlene Dahl. After double-crossing his pal, a gangland leader attempts to take over a whole city by blackmailing its officials.

MONDAY

(11) 7:00 Movie — "Born Yesterday." William Holden, Judy Holliday. A crooked junk dealer hires a writer to instruct his girl friend, but she gets a little too wise and discovers his shady dealings.

(2) (17) 8:00 Movie — "The Delphi Bureau." Celeste Holm, Bradford Dillman.

(5) (10) 8:00 Movie — "I Thank a Fool." Susan Hayward, Peter Finch.

(20) 8:00 Movie — "Four for Texas." Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Anita Ekberg, Ursula Andress, Charles Bronson, Victor Buono. Frank and Dean try to out-con each other for control of Galveston in the 1870's. With the Three Stooges and Arthur Godfrey along in surprise appearances and a climatic free-for-all waterfront brawl, it's a fun picture from beginning to end.

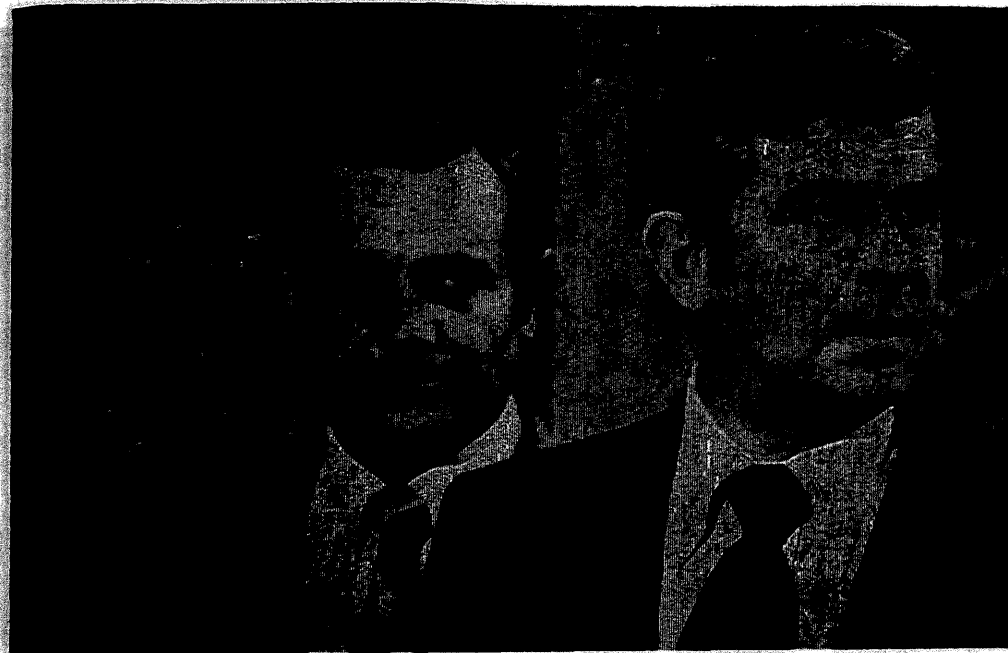

(2) 10:30 Movie — "Inside Daisy Clover." Natalie Wood, Christopher Plummer. Story of a young girl's rise to stardom in the 30's and the complications arising from her failure to adjust to Hollywood society.

(4) (7) (31) 10:30 Movie — "Children of the Damned." Ian Hendry, Alan Badel, Barbara Ferris. Sci-fi thriller centering around six children, all from different countries, who have extraordinary mental capabilities.

(2) 12:15 Movie — "House of Strangers." Edward G. Robinson, Richard Conte. Banker sets his four sons against each other and lets his youngest go to jail for him.

(4) 12:30 Movie — "Dangerous Crossing." Jeanne Crain, Michael Rennie, Carl Betz. When her husband disappears from a cruise ship, the other passengers try to convince a young bride she'd come aboard alone.

MOVIES THURSDAY

(11)—7:00 Movie — "7-11 Ocean Drive." Edmund O'Brien, Joanne Dru. An ingenious racketeer tries to outwit the big gambling syndicate.

(2)—10:30 Movie — "Anything Goes." Bing Crosby, Donald O'Connor. Musical-comedy co-stars, while in Europe, each sign leading ladies.

(4) (7) (31)—10:30 Movie — "The Sandpiper." Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Eva Marie Saint. The film, set amid the rugged splendor of California's Big Sur, tells the compelling story of an unconventional girl whose relationship with a married man nearly brings destruction to herself and everyone around her.

(2)—12:15 Movie — "Blast of Silence." Allen Baron, Molly McCarthy. Professional killer arrives in New York on an assignment to murder a local racketeer and is almost persuaded to call off the job.

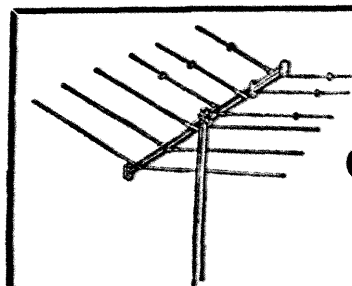

(4)—12:30 Movie — "The Oklahoman." Joel McCrea, Barbara Hale. In a small western town an Indian, about to lose his oil land to swindlers, is protected by a doctor.

DOM DELUISE relives classical history in a comedy skit on "The Dean Martin Show," to be colorcast 9-10 p.m. Thursday, March 9, on Channel 20.

VIVID RECREATION OF EXPLORATIONS

"99 Days of Survival," a vivid re-creation of one of the most daring and important explorations in the history of the United States—Major John Wesley Powell's 1869 journey down the then-unknown Green and Colorado Rivers—will be presented on Smithsonian Adventure with Walter Schirra 8-9 p.m. Thursday, March 9, on the CBS Television Network.

Voter Registration Tops All-Time High

When Morgan county voters go to the polls Tuesday, March 21, the potential total vote will be the "highest ever recorded" according to County Clerk Mrs. Louise Coop.

Mrs. Coop and her deputy clerks are busy getting the election precinct books up to date with the new registrations. A record total of between 18,000 and 19,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the March primary election. This is an "all-time record" for Morgan county. Two years ago the registrations totaled 16,868.

Five hundred voters registered during the last week of registration.

Charles Riggs Dies Friday In Jacksonville

Charles V. Riggs, 76, formerly of 830 N. Church St., died Friday afternoon at the Modern Care Nursing Center.

He was born in Murrayville March 11, 1895, the son of Albert and Lavenia Still Riggs.

He married Lela Galloway in 1916. She died July 18, 1971.

He was employed by the Eli Bridge Co. for many years. He was a World War I veteran, a member of American Legion Post 279, and a member of the Lincoln Avenue Baptist church.

He is survived by a son, Phillip Riggs of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters, Clara Kitzer of Jacksonville, and Sadie Million of Murrayville; a granddaughter, Judith Beth Bach.

A sister, Mrs. Charles Roberts, and three brothers, George Riggs, Herbert Riggs and Walter Riggs, preceded him in death.

The body is at the Williamson Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

GOP Gals Host Free Dance At Elks Saturday

A complimentary dance, sponsored by Morgan County Republican Woman's club and the Morgan County Republican Central Committee, will be held Saturday night, March 4, at the local Elks Club. Music will be furnished by Jimmy Reid and his orchestra from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. and free snacks will be available.

According to the committee in charge, Bea Ferguson, social chairman; Mrs. Caryle Dame and president of the MCRW, Mrs. Thomas Lukeman, special guests are expected. A highlight of the evening will be the presenting of a red, white and blue hand-crocheted afghan, compliments of Mrs. Edward J. Morthole, to a person attending the dance.

The county committee is sponsoring a reception late Wednesday afternoon, March 8, at the Beef and Bird in honor of Mrs. Richard Ogilvie, who will be speaking in Jacksonville on that date with her husband, Governor Ogilvie, who will be speaking in the evening at the Jaycees Boss' night banquet, also at the Dunlap. The Morgan County Woman's Republican club will host the reception.

The reception will be from 3:45 to 5 p.m. Mrs. Ogilvie is volunteer services chairman of the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded and will be visiting the local MR facilities.

CARS COLLIDE HERE FRIDAY

City policemen investigated a traffic collision at the corner of East Douglas Ave. and North East St. about 12:25 p.m. Friday.

Officers were told a car driven by Judith A. Schmidt, 25, of 1427 S. Main St., was northbound on East St., turned west onto Douglas and hit an eastbound auto operated by Dorothy D. Harrington, 25, of 740 E. Douglas Ave.

8:30 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Every Monday - Friday at Elm City Rehabilitation Center. Only clean clear or colored, no metal. Received at rear, No. Sandy or Side, Douglas - No. Main doors.

New voter lists will be made up after the primary election. The exact total will be available at that time.

Mrs. Coop reported that the biggest number of new registrations had been listed in Precinct 26, followed by two precincts surrounding MacMurray College. The least change was recorded in Sinclair Precinct — only one new registration.

In the county precincts, the largest increase in registrations came from Woodson, Murrayville, Meredosia and Waverly, in that order.

For the first time, tally judges will move in at 6 p.m. in six precincts (the largest) to handle the counting chores. Extra judges have been hired for Jacksonville precincts 11, 12, 14, 17, 25 and 26.

The regular judges will work from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

One holdover judge from each party will be required from the earlier group to supervise the counting of the five new judges.

Democrats will have 49 choices to record in the primary and Republican voters will make 28 decisions. In addition, Woodson voters will have a separate ballot for a sewer bond issue and everyone will have a ballot to select school trustees, not to be confused with school board members.

Conservation Director Forbids Cougar Hunting

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Cougar hunting in state parks — or hunting for any animal on any state property — was forbidden Friday by Henry N. Barkhausen, Illinois conservation director, unless he permits it by administrative order.

Barkhausen said he is ordering an investigation of reports of cougar sightings, discovery of animal tracks, and the slaying of three sheep near Liberty. The area is in Adams County east of Quincy, and about 10 miles west of Siloam Springs State Park.

Barkhausen said one aim is to determine if cougar are in the area despite the fact that a century has passed since any of the many reports of cougar in the state has been authenticated.

"A protection of wildlife, with due regard to the protection of citizens and their properties, is our main concern," he said in a statement.

It said cougar are not protected by law because the animal does not inhabit the state.

The statement quoted department biologists and other authorities agreeing it is highly unlikely that cougar exist in the area. James Lockart, supervisor of the division of wildlife resources in the department, said, "cougar have been extinct in this state since the mid-1800s."

But, he said, annual reports of cougar persist.

Defendant Gets 6-Month Term

A 19-year-old Jacksonville young woman was sentenced to serve six months at the Dwight reformatory for women by Judge John B. Wright Friday morning after she was found guilty earlier of theft under $150.

Nikki Sue Taylor, 19, of 670 South Kosciusko was found guilty of theft of a welfare check. She had asked for probation on the offense. Probation was denied Friday morning and sentence passed.

She was turned over to the custody of the sheriff who took her to the Sangamon county jail for transfer to Dwight Monday.

In other court action, Sandy Charlesworth of Woodson had her case continued for one week for a pre-sentence investigation.

She had earlier entered a plea of guilty to deceptive practice. James Fitzpatrick of 1110 South Clay entered a plea of guilty to no valid registration and was fined $15 and $10 costs.

INTER AGENCY COUNCIL HEARS PANEL ON HOUSING

McCarthy's Support Of Walker Cools

By MICHAEL ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

Eugene J. McCarthy kissed off Friday his long-standing connection with the state's hotly contested race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

McCarthy, on a downstate swing in his Illinois presidential primary battle with Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, was asked if he supports Chicago Lawyer Daniel J. Walker or Lt. Gov. Paul Simon for governor.

"I think I'm on a Walker letterhead of some kind," McCarthy said. "But I really don't know what it is."

Actually, McCarthy is listed on a letterhead of the Walker National Fund-Raising Committee as a member. He gave a well-publicized cocktail party for Walker last year and a Washington fund raiser associated with his 1968 campaign now is working for the gubernatorial contender.

"It's a mixed case," McCarthy said. "I was committed to Walker before Simon really came into it."

On endorsements, the former Minnesota senator dismissed the support of Muskie by Illinois Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III.

"I don't think people need anyone to tell them how to vote for president," he said. "I don't think endorsing up is really important. Endorsing down may be helpful as in the case of a president campaigning for someone else."

McCarthy said he plans to spend "all of my time and more than all of my money" in the campaign leading up to the March 21 balloting. He said he might plunge $250,000 into the race "if we could raise it."

He said he would consider it a victory to receive 35 per cent of the vote in the nonbinding preferential primary.

"If I were in Wisconsin I'd say I have to win, but in Illinois it's more difficult for some obvious reasons," he said. He added that he bears no grudge against Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago for the events of the 1968 Democratic convention.

"I'm running against his position in the party, just as I'm running against Muskie's position in the party," he said. McCarthy outlined four themes of his Illinois campaign: How to get out of Vietnam, fighting poverty, shifting from a military to a civilian economy and restoring what he described as endangered individual liberties.

As an example of the latter he cited the Illinois non-Communist loyalty oath required of candidates. He refused to sign it but the state election board gave him a spot on the ballot anyway.

"On the same day that teachers in Czechoslovakia had to sign loyalty oaths that they were Communists, candidates in Illinois had to sign oaths that they weren't Communists," he said. "That says a lot about the difference between the Communist world and the Free World."

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kloppe of New Berlin became parents of a son at 12:36 p.m. Friday at Passavant hospital.

5 Cars Damaged In Collision South Of City

Five cars were damaged in an accident at 7:20 a.m. Friday on Route 67 1/2 mile south of the city.

Investigating state police said a northbound auto driven by Gerald L. Ashbaker, 23, of Route 1, Murrayville, stopped to make a left turn onto a side road. Police said his signal lights were not working and he was struck from the rear by a second auto driven by Howard H. Smith of rural Jacksonville. A third car driven by Darrell R. Clark of Scottville, in an effort to avoid the Smith auto, pulled to the left, and slid into the opposite lane of traffic striking a car driven by James A. Fenton of 1505 West College. The Clark auto was then struck from the rear by a fifth auto driven by Betty R. Powell, 45, of White Hall, who sustained a minor injury but did not require hospital treatment.

State police estimated damage to all vehicles at over $4,000. Ashbaker was ticketed for failure to signal when required. The Clark, Powell and Fenton autos had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

ROMAN PUCINSKI, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, visited with news media in Jacksonville Friday afternoon. He is shown here with Jerry Symons of WLDS during the press conference. Pucinski contended that he would take his record of service in the Congress and the economic issues of the present administration to the people during the campaign.

He cited six million unemployed, six million under-employed and another 2 1/2 million which he described as the "working poor" as evidence of poor economic policy on the part of the present administration. He said he was confident of being elected in November.

He said Lyndon Johnson once noted the contrast between him and Senator Percy. Johnson reportedly described Pucinski as a "workhorse" and Percy as a "showhorse."

Pucinski said Friday's campaign tour of southern Illinois started at 5 a.m. with a ride from Chicago to meet with 48th District State Senator John Linebaugh Knuppel of rural Petersburg. Pucinski visited Beardstown, Petersburg, Havana, Chandlerville and Virginia, among other places, with Knuppel. The campaign party arrived late in Jacksonville.

The meeting place was the mayor's office at city hall. Mayor Dan F. Lahey was not present for the meeting, nor was his secretary Mrs. Betty Samples. Best indications are that it was not a political snub, however, since Lahey had left town for a visit to New Orleans in connection with a mayor's meeting. Mrs. Samples took her baby to the doctor for a shot but returned promptly.

The "changing of the guard" so to speak was that Sen. Knuppel delivered Pucinski to State Rep. Ken Boyle who had scheduled meetings with members of the steel workers union in Edwardsville and the electrical workers in Springfield. Boyle is technically a primary opponent for Mayor Lahey who is also seeking district office. Another sidebar Friday was that Rep. Boyle arrived in Jacksonville to take Pucinski to Edwardsville at the prescribed time, not knowing Pucinski would be late. Boyle said he had to leave a campaign rally early in Gillespie to make the appointment, leaving Bill Gross, another candidate for state representative, also from Jacksonville, to talk further with the party workers.

While awaiting the arrival of Pucinski, Boyle and a couple of campaign aides took time for a cup of coffee at the Drexel.

Two Artists Display Work At Elliott Bank

The work of Judy Wilkens and Carlene Pruitt will be displayed in the lobby of the Elliott State Bank March 6-17, the tenth in a series of exhibits there.

Judy Wilkens

Mrs. Wilkens, who moved here last year from Cincinnati, has taught high school art and supervised summer art classes for children. She has a B.A. degree in art from Thomas Moore College and has studied drawing at the Cincinnati Art Academy.

She is a member of the Jacksonville Area Artists League. She especially likes drawing children's portraits.

Carlene Pruitt

Mrs. Pruitt has attended art classes offered by the Jacksonville Area Artists League. She is secretary-treasurer of that club. Though she has worked in most mediums, she prefers acrylics, conté pencil and collage.

She also works with fur, which is rare among amateurs. Mrs. Pruitt is also president of the Jacksonville Area Community Theater.
